CAVE CAPTIVE MUST REMAIN IN TOMB WITHOUT FOOD FOR TWO MORE DAYS

OFFICERS HAVE THREE UNDER SUSPICION IN SLAYING OF CHILDREN

Detectives Ask L. A. Mayor To Offer $10,000 Reward For Killer's Arrest

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—Three men are under surveillance in connection with the brutal murder of Nina and May Martin, whose bodies were found yesterday within a mile of their Glen Airy homes, according to the sheriff's office today.

The two girls disappeared August 23, after they left the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Buss, 2854 Mansfield avenue, to go to the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Carrie Lovelace, of 2700 LaBrea avenue.

One of the three men suspected of the crime is an old man who was arrested some time ago in connection with a similar attack case, according to the sheriff. The other two men are said to have been talking to the two girls before they disappeared.

Seek $10,000 Reward

Detectives working on the case have requested Mayor Cryer to ask the City Council to offer a reward of $10,000 for the arrest of the murderer, or for clues that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the person who committed the crime.

The bodies of the two girls were discovered by Leo P. Saulque, lying in an open gulley on the Clara Baldwin Stocker estate, about one-quater of a mile west of Mesa drive and about two blocks south of the Pacific Electric tracks.

Follow Glendale Clew

County officials working on the case are of the opinion that the two girls were slain and their bodies taken to the spot where they were found. The territory adjacent to the makeshift grave had been closely searched a short time after the girls disappeared.

One theory advanced is that the person responsible for the death of the two girls is the same man who attacked three girls near Altadena, attempted to attack a schoolgirl in Glendale several months ago, and tried to lure girls into his automobile in Pasadena. These cases are being investigated by officials in hopes of obtaining clews which will lead to arrests.

TURKS, GREEKS BOTH READY FOR WAR

Wealthy Athenian Offers to Finance Move Against Old-time Enemies

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 5.—Turkey wishes to safeguard peace, but will not hesitate to defend Turkish sovereignty against aggression.

This was the attitude of the Turkish parliament today, approved without a dissenting vote after a spirited declaration to the assembly by Rothi Bey. Premier Kemal Pasha was present during the speech and the unanimous vote of approval.

Rothi Bey further declared that the expulsion of the patriarch was in accordance with the decisions of the commission on exchange of population. He regretted that "Greek statesmen are attempting to create a movement hostile to Turkey."

Pal of Cave Captive Gives Up All Hope

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 5.—Dirty, muddy and shaking from exhaustion, Johnny Geralds, pal of Floyd Collins in many cave adventures, this morning stood on the little slime-covered plateau under overhanging rocks which from the archway of the entrance to Sand cave where Collins has been trapped for more than 140 hours and gave his verdict.

"I've gone in there for the last time," he said. "It's no use. I've had hope up to now, but the rock and mud is falling now faster than we can clear it out. Each time I go in the walls and roof look worse. There is more debris filling the passage now than there was before we cleared it all away yesterday morning.

"Floyd is getting weaker," he continued in the same measured tones. "He couldn't talk to me this time. While I was in there trying to make him answer me, mud and rock were falling constantly. It's on his body now. And I can't get there to move it."

RACING DEATH IN NEW PLAN TO EFFECT RESCUE OF PRISONER

Seal Tunnel and Start to Sink Shaft; Troops In Charge at Cave

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 5.—All efforts to rescue Floyd Collins by means of the tortuous, twisted passage into Sand cave in a pocket of which he has lain imprisoned by a boulder for six days, were abandoned here shortly after 9 o'clock.

Under orders from General H. H. Denhardt, commandant of the military area established at Sand cave, the tunnel through which Collins entered, was closed and sealed and work of sinking a two-foot shaft to the spot where it had been estimated Collins might be was to be started immediately.

The work, engineers estimate, will require about two days—two days during which Collins will be more completely buried alive than at any time since the boulder made him a prisoner.

Cut Off From Food

He will be cut off absolutely from communication and food supplies, while fifty-five feet above him a donkey engine and dynamite blasts send their reverberations and vibrations through the resonant sandstone formation, adding their terrors to the rumble of falling rock in the inky blackness of the living grave.

The shaft method of rescue has been determined on in a final effort. It is a question of certain death balanced against the faintest hope of life.

Almost Certain Death

The tunnel method, previously in effect, miners said, meant impossible rescue for Collins and almost certain death for those who braved the mud-filled passage in an effort to reach him.

REPUBLICAN CLUB TO HOLD MEETING

Organization's Head Says Statement to Be Made About Activities

R. S. Person, president of the Glendale Republican club, has submitted the following for publication in The Glendale Evening News:

To members of the Glendale Republican club—There has been a misunderstanding among some members of the club regarding the nature of its future activities in matters strictly local in their nature. This misunderstanding is largely due to attempts made in some quarters not friendly to the club to create the impression that it intends to engage in partisan politics in local affairs. These attempts have caused some confusion of thought among some loyal members of the club and it is very desirable that every member should be fully informed regarding the intent nad purpose of the club. It is, therefore, very desirable that every member should be present at the annual meeting next Thursday night, when a full statement of what has been done—as well as what has not been done—in pursuance of the resolution adopted January 15, will be made and opportunity to approve or disapprove it will be given. Every member is urged to attend. The meeting is called to convene at an early hour, 7 o'clock, for reasons stated elsewhere in this paper.

"R. S. PERSON."

Notice of Meeting

The notice of the meeting of the club, referred to by Mr. Person, follows:

"February 12 will be the date for the first annual meeting of the Glendale Republican club. This will be a very important meeting and every member of the club that possibly can do so should be present. The meeting is called at 7 o'clock in order to dispose of a full program of important business before 8 o'clock, at which hour members of the G. A. R. will take control of it and addresses appropriate to the Lincoln birthday anniversary will be made. The business part of the program will open with unfinished business, to be followed by reports of committees, nominations for a full complement of officers, their election and any further business that may be transacted before 8 o'clock. Unless all business shall have been disposed of before 8 o'clock the unfinished business will be in order after the speaking program by the G. A. R. closes. The meeting will be held in the council chamber of the city hall, Thursday night, February 12, at 7 o'clock."

LEGION NOTES

California may secure one of the five hospitals soon to be designated in various parts of the country by the federal government for the care of World war veterans suffering from habitual use of narcotics, according to word received at state headquarters of the American Legion.

A special staff is being trained by the government to treat narcotic patients, many of whom have become drug addicts as a result of treatments for disabilities suffered during the war.

James K. Fisk, state adjutant of the American Legion, is traveling over Southern California on a week's tour of the various American Legion posts in this section.

During his inspection tour, Fisk is to be present at the presentation of a beautiful clock to past state commander, James F. Collins, at Long Beach, the gift of the American Legion of California. The presentation is to be made by John F. Quinn, former state and national commander of the American Legion.

Trustees of the Knights of Columbus have appropriated $75,000 to enable the American Legion to properly carry on its rehabilitation program during the present year. State Commander Nathan F. Coombs of the legion has been notified by national officers of the organization.

The contribution from the Knights of Columbus has been made so that the legion may continue its rehabilitation and child welfare work while the organization is raising the $5,000,000 endowment fund among its members.

The Forty and Eight society and the American Legion Women's auxiliary have each pledged $25,000 to finance the child welfare program of the legion.

The regular monthly business meeting of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, will be held tomorrow night at Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, according to an announcement made today by Adjutant E. E. McWain. Next week the members of Monrovia and Tujunga posts will be guests of the local Legionnaires at the weekly meeting, and a large class of candidates will be initiated February 20. The monthly joint meeting with the members of the Auxiliary will be held February 27, with auxiliary members from Tujunga participating.

EVANGELIST TO REACH HERE THURSDAY

John Brown to Close Large Birmingham Meeting on Next Sunday Night

The Glendale Ministerial association requests The Glendale Evening News to publish the following self-explanatory communication:

"To Churchgoers in Particular and the Public in General:—Evangelist Brown is at present conducting one of the greatest evangelistic campaigns of recent years. One hundred and twenty churches in Brimingham, Ala., are uniting in a citywide movement and 'so mightily has the Word of God grown and prevailed' that literally hundreds have been converted. At this writing the revival is at flood tide. The co-operating ministers are urging John Brown not to close his meetings there until Sunday night, February 8, instead of February 1, as originally planned.

"The local ministers are trying to put themselves in the place of their Birmingham brethren, and certainly would not attempt to pull the evangelist away from such an outstanding success as is there manifest. Some will remember that, four years ago, the meetings here were closed one week too soon in the estimation of those who followed them most closely. That is to say, there is no doubt that the result would have been more than doubled if the evangelist could have continued his meetings for another week.

Arrive Thursday

"In behalf of the Glendale Ministerial association the undersigned wish to announce that John Brown will not arrive in Glendale until Thursday morning, February 12, and will speak at the tabernacle that night.

"The campaign, however, will open as announced on next Sunday morning, February 8, at 11 o'clock, at the big tabernacle which has been erected on North Kenwood street, near East Broadway. Evangelist Higginbottom of Oakland, a member of the John Brown party, and a most effective speaker, will preach next Sunday, both morning and night, and during the intervening days until the arrival of John Brown. Pastors are assured of the full co-operation on the part of their respective congregations and cordially invite the general public to attend all of the meetings.

"Watch these columns for daily detailed information. Don't fail to hear "Gid" Higginbottom next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, February 8, at the big tabernacle.

Sings Here

CARL GANTVOORT, brilliant operatic and concert baritone, who is appearing at the Playhouse theatre.

A delight to the musical as well as the histrionic appetite featured Wednesday night's performance of "Wedding Bells," Salisbury Field's sparkling comedy at the Playhouse theatre, when Carl Gantvoort, brilliant operatic and concert baritone, appeared at the conclusion of the first act in a short recital of his best known songs.

This famous artist's appearance came as a surprise to many of the Playhouse patrons. The applause of the large audience was so spontaneous and emphatic that the management has made arrangements for Mr. Gantvoort to appear at every performance of "Wedding Bells" until further notice. He is a gold medal graduate of the Cincinnati College of Music, where he was a pupil of Sig. Lino Mattioli, and has studied in the greatest conservatories of London, Paris and Berlin.

Among this singer's American triumphs are included the role of the American consul in Henry Savage's production of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly"; the role of sheriff in the same producer's version in English of Puccini's "The Girl of the Golden West"; in Pietro Floridia's "Paoletta" at the Cincinnati Festival, where he alternated with David Bispham in the principal role; and with the Boston Opera House under the direction of Henry Russell.

In Light Opera

Gantvoort is also noted in the light opera field, having appeared in several of Victor Herbert's notable successes and also under the direction of Reginald de Koven, the composer. More recently he became better known to the music lovers of Southern California as soloist with the orchestra under Alfred Hertz at the Hollywood Bowl.

His voice is a rich baritone of sympathetic quality and great dramatic power, added to which is the charm of an equally robust personality. For those who revel in the music of the masters rendered by a master musician, Gantvoort's appearance here is an event which should not be missed. The management of the Playhouse is to be congratulated for securing him for the run of "Wedding Bells," which in itself is one of the most delightful entertainments seen in Glendale in a very long time.

AUTOIST PAYS AMPLE TAX IS CLAIM

Auto Club Shows Glendale Alone Pays $490,000 Yearly as Share

What does the average motorist in Southern California pay in taxes? How do these taxes compare with his assessments on other property and real estate? Is the motor vehicle owner getting off easy, or is he being stung?

These are some of the questions that are being asked since announcement that a bill has been introduced in the state legislature providing additional taxes on motor vehicles for road building purposes.

"The general opposition to the gasoline tax that has developed throughout the southern part of the state has led to a great many statements being made in effect that the motorist of California is taxed less than any other state in the union. This broad general statement is pleasing enough if accepted without argument, but the motorist who takes the trouble to analyze the situation may find the pleasantry hard to believe," said M. P. Towman, representative of the Southern California Automobile club in Glendale.

"According to figures furnished by the engineering department of the Auto club, the 17,000,000 motor vehicle owners in the United States paid taxes in 1924 of $55,000,000. Reducing this to individuals, it is found that the average tax per vehicle was $32.65.

California Status

"The average valuation per car is given as $845. Now comes the situation in California, where the average tax rate per $100 is from $1.90 to $2.02 for general city and county purposes, in addition to which special taxes are imposed, bringing the rate up to an average approximating $3.86.

"However, taxes are generally levied on a 50 per cent valuation or less. Comparing this with the general property valuation, the tax on automobiles would have to be at the rate of $7.72 per hundred to produce a return of $32.65 per vehicle, or practically double the tax rate on real estate. In Glendale, where there are approximately 15,000 automobiles, motorists are paying in taxes to the state in the neighborhood of $490,000 yearly.

Opposition Cited

"We regard the motor vehicle as a means of transportation and regard this form of transportation as already amply, if not excessively taxed. We so regard it because of the federal tax included in the purchase price, the personal property tax levied on it by counties and cities, the present registration fee and the present gasoline tax.

"We are opposed to any increase in motor vehicle taxation except for purposes of maintenance and repair, and then only when it can be shown that present funds are not sufficient for that purpose.

"We are opposed to any increase in the gasoline tax, weight tax, or any other tax for highway construction purposes. Seeing no need of increasing taxation at the present time for the purpose of maintenance and repair, we are also opposed to any increase in taxation of the motorist for these purposes."

J. C. SHERER WRITES ABOUT BOND ISSUES

City Treasurer Delves Into Tax Matters And Legislative Activities on Part Of Educators; People Have Rights

J. C. Sherer, city treasurer, and pioneer resident of Glendale, has sent another communication to The Glendale Evening News relative to the proposed school bonds, totaling $2,400,000, to be voted upon February 17. Mr. Sherer's official position and standing as a citizen make his arguments and questions on the bond issue of vital importance to the voters. His letter follows in full:

Editor, The Evening News:—At last the campaign committee favoring the proposed bond issues for schools has given us a little real information, in regard to bonded indebtedness, bonding capacity, etc. Let us analyze the proposition on the basis of these figures. We are always assured by the school authorities that every bond issue 'only adds a few cents a year to our taxes." This is the stereotyped formula. It is a half-truth only. We may admit, for the sake of argument, that the taxes required for the payment of interest and retirement is not particularly burdensome, but that represents only a small proportion of the additional debt incurred when we vote a bond issue for new school sites. It would be interesting and profitable to go further back in making comparative statements, but the writer has only the figures for the years 1923 and 1924 available. These answer the purpose, however. We find that the tax rate levied for bond payments in the former year was 12 cents on a valuation of $35,130,340. The tax rate for the same purpose in 1924 was 13 cents, on a valuation of $54,074,970. Here is an increase in both the assessed value and in the rate. The gross receipts in taxes collected for payments on bonds in this one year was $28,-931. This, nothwithstanding retirements. This is a small matter to great minds that think in millions only,. but that is what the "few cents" amounted to after issuing the high school bonds for the Broadway school. But, wait a minute, this is only a starter. For "maintenance" the law permits the school board to levy for the year a rate of 75 cents on the hundred—only the gilt-edge districts reach this limit, and Glendale is nothing if not gilt-edge when it comes to school matters. (How about "blue sky" limitation on schools?)

Needs Explanation

In 1923 this 75-cent rate netted the high school district, on valuation as named above, the sum of $263,477. The same rate in 1924 netted the district $410,-062. An increase resulting from the voting of the bonds of $146,-584! Can it be denied that this phenomenal increase was the result of voting the high school bonds? If denied, it is for someone on the inside of school matters to explain why this increase was necessary. If this shows "only a few cents increase," then Heaven preserve us from many more such "inconsiderable" increases.

Now, to return to the facts as set forth in the statement of bonded indebtedness, accepting without question their correctness as furnished by the bond committee. Voting the $1,200,000 asked for by the high school authorities, we find that the limit is not reached, there being a balance of our credit left amounting to $703,748. Now, candidly, what does that petty sum amount to when the controlling powers think in millions? As for the elementary school district, it has only the really petty sum of $266,040.50 remaining of its margin.

It Would Mean Ruin

Everybody knows that the increase in assessed values last year was phenomenal; if repeated in the near future, it will mean ruin to a large proportion of the property holders whom it hits, as even the members of the Realty board can see. Remember that Glendale High school district has reached the limit as to rate, and that its increased bonding capacity rests solely on an increased valuation of our property. What is going to happen when it is found, as it will be inevitably, that a real necessity exists in which we shall be faced by a legitimate call for a large bond issue? This thought is respectfully referred to the committee of the Chamber of Commerce that is to figure out just how much our next assessed valuation should be. The committee is asked to remember the needs of our schools, so that our property shall be boosted sufficiently to meet the longing of the educational combine for the blue sky! Meanwhile, it might be well to keep an eye on the actions of the ruling power on the seat of the mighty in Los Angeles, for, if he does not exert influence to have the supervisors and assessors boost the valuation, it will be because he has lost his cunning. The Legislature will bear watching, also, to see that this embarrassing 75-cent limit is not removed.

Dictates Legislation

There may be a limit beyond which the educational combine in California will not go to obtain unlimited command of the property and person of the people, but it shows no signs of appearing in the near future. It goes to Sacramento and dictates as to legislation. It is so strongly represented there in the body of the Legislature that it forms a combination with a trading capacity that is practically unbeatable. Many a bad law has been put through simply because the legislative combination representing the schools (from the university down) has to support other measures than its own particular favorites, in order to get just what it wants in the way of appropriations and changes in the organic law or enactments. The writer does not enjoy the role of a critic of the local school boards, composed in part of his personal friends, but there is an enthusiasm in the minds of many good people over the subject of education, which approaches fanaticism and is beyond the reach of reason.

Now, if the local boards had been willing to trust the people to manage an affair which is entirely theirs, this blanket proposition would never have been put forth. The statement that some of the things it is proposed to spend the bond money for are a necessity is undisputed, but the boards were aware of the fact that there were other of the proposals which the voters would not approve of. Now, if there was a sincere desire to secure the support of the people for certain necessary things, why was the proposition loaded down with a number of things which were not necessary, but, at best, only advisable, or merely desirable? The answer is plain—they did not have confidence in the people as capable of passing intelligent judgment. They failed to realize; they certainly knew, as good American citizens, that the people had a right to decide the matter, even if their judgment might be subject to criticism.

Here Is Program

If the boards had any intention of letting the people give a decision in accordance with their own wishes, the various propositions would have been presented

TEACHERS TO LEAD FORUM BANQUET

High School Instructors Masters of Ceremony Next Monday Night

Committees of the High School Teachers' club which will have charge of the open forum dinner of the Chamber of Commerce next Monday night, will announce its program tomorrow. Plans for the forum, to take place at the Broadway High school, include dinner, to be served by members of the domestic science classes, under the supervision of Miss Ellen Hanson. A violin solo by Miss Hazel Linkogel and selections by a special orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Florence Hoover Rodgers of the music department, will be given. The main speaker of the evening will be Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction. Mr. Wood will make a special trip south from Sacramento.

The Broadway High school will be open for inspection from 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. At 6:30 o'clock dinner will be served in the school cafeteria. Following the dinner the meeting will be adjourned to the auditorium, where the entertainment program will be staged. One of the features of the evening will be the official presentation to President D. H. Smith of the Chamber of Commerce of the two silver trophies won by Glendale's civic entry in the 1925 Tournament of Roses at Pasadena. The presentation will be made by L. W. Chobe, Glendale float builder.

Tickets for the forum dinner now are on sale. Many reservations already have been made, and indications are that the largest assemblage ever to attend a Chamber of Commerce affair will be on hand. More than 500 persons can be accommodated in the cafeteria. Tickets may be procured at the chamber offices at 150 South Brand boulevard or from members of the High School Teachers' club.

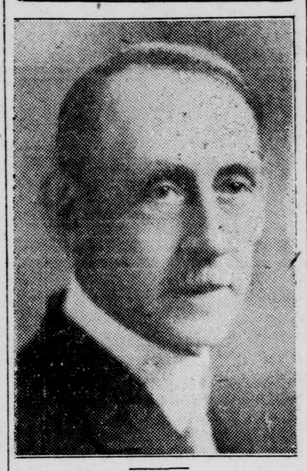
For Council

JOHN S. KNOX, the ninth to receive more than fifty nominations in The Glendale Evening News' nominations for City Council campaign, now being conducted. Who's next?



When The Glendale Evening News announced that it would receive nominations for city councilmen, it was stated that all who received fifty or more nominations would have their pictures published, also a brief biography. It happens that John S. Knox is the nineth proposed candidate to receive fifty or more nominations, so his picture appears above and following is a brief story about him.

John S. Knox was born in Nashville, Tennessee, of Scotch and English parents. He moved to St. Louis when quite young. For several years he was a traffic official of the Missouri Pacific Railway system, and was organizer of the traffic departments of the Cudahy Packing Co. of Chicago and Omaha. He was for eleven years general traffic manager and general manager of a refrigerator car line. He left the Cudahy Co. to engage in the bond, stock and investment securities business in Omaha and Kansas City. He was vice-president of two prominent concerns and served two years as president of the Kansas City Stock Exchange. He has been handling securities independently for the last five years.

Mr. Knox is married and resides at 435 South Central avenue, which has been his home for five years. He has owned property in Glendale for seventeen years.

"I have never held a political office," said Mr. Knox, "but have always taken an active interest in public affairs. I have devoted much time during the past year toward the improvement of Central avenue, which will reflect credit to the whole city. I am not in any sense an office seeker, but have told my friends that I am willing to serve the people of Glendale if I am needed. I have no pet theories of government, but if elected would apply to city matters the same principles of honesty, economy and efficiency that have governed my business life."

REALTORS ASK CHANGES IN TAX LAWS

Various Recommendations Made by Local Board Are Pointed Out

Recommendations for several radical changes in the taxation laws of California and a number of suggestions to realtors and taxpayers generally, are contained in a report of the taxation and legislation committee of the Glendale Realty board. The report has been issued for publication by James W. Pearson, chairman of the committee and follows:

We, your committee on taxation and legislation, have been inquiring into the tax situation, and find some facts that are of interest to us, and wish to pass them along to you:

First: The tax rates designated as general rates inside incorporated cities and outside incorporated cities (exclusive of school and road taxes) on a comparative basis are as follows:

	Inside	Outside
Modesto county	1.60	2.00
San Diego county	2.56	3.28
San Francisco Co.	3.47
Ventura county	1.77	2.02
Fresno county	1.80	2.10
Tulare county	2.15	2.65
San Bernardino Co.	2.75	3.25
Orange county	1.35	1.75
Alameda county	1.55	1.95
Los Angeles Co.	1.16	1.46

(Above rates have been obtained from the county tax report of each county and are authentic).

Second: Los Angeles county, in which we are naturally most interested, has followed the custom for several years of opening the tax roll during the first two weeks

I purchased one of your Revigators about one year ago. It has certainly proved a wise purchase.
I have had heart trouble for several years. The trouble was aggravated by indigestion which caused gas pressure around the heart. The use of the jar has completely eliminated the indigestion and at his last examination my doctor stated my heart was nearly back to normal. I cannot recommend this jar too highly to anyone interested.

About six months ago I commenced drinking Radio-Active Water and I cannot begin to tell you in this short letter all it has done for me. In that space of time I have discontinued taking cathartics. I am full of pep, have put on more weight, and it has also cleared up my skin so that lots of my friends have remarked about the change. The vitalizing effect from the drinking of this water is remarkable.
JOHN T. TURNER, Optometrist,
205 N. Stanton St.

Radium water has time-tested health value.
For it is the radio-activity in the waters of Hot Springs, Arkansas, that is credited by medical authorities for the almost miraculous results obtained there.
But Hot Springs water can not be made available to people who do not actually visit the Springs. The vital element is lost within a few days.
It Can Be Returned to Water
Nevertheless you can enjoy radium water in your home, easily and inexpensively.
The Radium Ore Revigator returns to any water this vital element—radio-activity. Does not change the taste of the water.
Give your family the benefit of this health-giving water.
Our Invitation—FREE Trial
We know what radium water does for people. We want you to know.

A MAN CAN FAIL—

In business and still be a noble man.
in love and still keep his own honor.
In his profession and still be a success at living.
In a lawsuit and still be in the right.
In an election and often have cause for thankfulness.
In a game only when he loses the spirit of the play.
In everything and still be a great man in the eyes of his child.

CONVICT ROAD CAMPS

Report of the governor's committee of nine, appointed in 1923 to recommend a policy for the State Highway commission is said to have disappointed the motoring public and the automobile clubs of the state owing to the suggestion that new construction be financed by additional taxes on motorists and because the committee rejected a proposal to include 3000 miles of additional highways in the state's primary system.

However, all humane persons will favor the recommendation of this committee that the convict labor camps maintained by the state highway department be expanded and increased so as to accommodate 1000 prisoners.

Two hundred miles of highway in rough and inaccessible parts of the state have been built by convict labor since 1915. A law enacted in 1923 provides that these prisoners be paid a daily wage not to exceed $2.50, from which must be deducted the expenses of camp maintenance. If a convict has dependents who are receiving state aid, two-thirds of his wage must go to them. If any surplus remains, this, up to a maximum of 75 cents a day, is set aside for the prisoner, to be given him when he is released.

Men in San Quentin and Folsom are said to vie with each other to make good prison records, for on this depends their assignment to road camps. Of the total number of men sent to these camps but 2 per cent have tried to escape. And since all the prisoners in the camp must bear the expense of the search for an escaping prisoner, the majority of the prisoners co-operate with the guards to see that there is no escape.

These road camps are located in districts that are not attractive to free labor, but greatly preferable to prison cells. Hundreds of dollars are saved the state by making prisoners self-supporting and doing away with the necessity of enlarging prison facilities. The greatest gain, however, is in the physical and moral health of the prisoners.

END OF THE WORLD

News dispatches tell that eastern adherents of Mrs. Rowen, self-styled prophet, are selling their property and coming to Hollywood in preparation for the end of the world, which Mrs. Rowen says is to take place February 6. Why do those who believe that the millennium is coming at a specified time always sell their property and settle up their business affairs in preparation for the event? What difference can it make who owns the property or who has the bank account when that day shall have come? Of course it is reasonable that those who expect to meet their Lord should wish to pay their debts before facing Him, but it would seem that any further settling up of one's business affairs would be uncalled for. And why should it be necessary for the faithful to gather in Hollywood or at any other particular spot? Will not the Lord appear to all the people when he comes? Will He not be able to see and know and judge His own wherever they may be?

It is written that "of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of Heaven, but my Father only." Yet every few years some fanatic, disregarding this and many other passages of scripture in regard to Christ's second coming, gets into the limelight by setting a date for the world to end. And these people are always able to gather around them a little band of disciples not at all discouraged because this same prediction has been made many times before and failed to materialize.

The people of the Seventh-day Adventist faith, who are strong in Glendale, are a great missionary denomination because they believe that Christ will not come again until everyone has heard the gospel. They are hastening the day by carrying the Word to every corner of the earth, but they do not set the time for His coming.

WORLD WANTS ORIGINALITY

Imitation is the sincerest flattery, it is said, but that is about all that can be said of it. Somebody sings a new song, someone writes in a different style, someone originates something and makes a hit and there are a hundred to follow in his footsteps, thinking they can duplicate his success by imitation. But the world wants originality. There is a constant demand for something new. The popular person is the one with initiative and creative ability.

Cities as well as persons are prone to imitate, but Riverside is not in this class. That city has opened its second annual tourist-greeting season, an enterprise for which the city deserves congratulation and commendation. Beautiful Riverside girls in Spanish costume meet the trains and extend the welcome of the southland in the form of golden oranges to the visitors and newcomers. Riverside has made a hit by greeting tourists in this way. Someone has said that originality is simply a pair of fresh eyes.

MARSHALL CRITICISES LAWS

Former Vice President Marshall says he is not in favor of the prohibition law and never was; that no decent Democrat ever was. But he advocates maintaining it or else getting rid of it. "I'm getting tired of all these additions to the constitution," he is quoted as saying. "I like the English way best. They don't make laws until the people want them. I would like to repeal all the federal and state laws and re-enact the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule."

When were the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule ever repealed? They are as much in force today as they ever were and as truly applicable to human living. Their violation by nearly everyone has no relation to the number of our federal and state laws. If the world could do away with all other laws and make the decalogue and the Golden Rule the only rules of life and conduct, the millennium would be here.

THE WORLD PROGRESSES

A cheerful note is sounded by the Hemet News for those who think the world is growing worse or that development in human affairs is too slow. This paper declares that there has been a definite upward movement for the last fifty years which anyone who has lived intelligently during that time has seen. In that period slaves and masters have become brothers and labor has been dignified. Kings have been dethroned and nations everywhere are struggling toward democracy. Mechanical discoveries and inventions have made life easier and pleasanter.

Peter Cooper once said, "Measured by the achievements of the years I have seen, I am one of the oldest men who ever lived."

EVENTUALLY, WHY NOT NOW?

Copper

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The extent to which copper is used was demonstrated the other day by Thomas D. Brophy, of the Anaconda Copper Mining Co., in a speech before the Rotary club of New York.

"There is scarcely a basic industry that is not reliant, in greater or less degree, upon the services of copper or its alloys.

"In 1923 there were 2,800,000,000 pounds of copper produced in all the world. The largest single consumer of copper is the electrical industry, which means the telegraph and telephone systems, electric urban and interurban lines and light and power systems."

The world's telegraph and telephone systems have already consumed 1,300,000,000 pounds of copper and are now using it at the rate of 200,000,000 pounds a year.

The world is girdled by 20,000,000,000 pounds of copper in submarine cables.

In the locomotive there are about 3,000 pounds of copper used.

The average automobile has twenty-five places where copper is employed. One day's output at Ford's at the Highland Park plant alone, requires 254 miles of copper tubing for radiators and 67 tons of brass for various parts and appliances.

The Leviathan contains more than a million pounds of copper and copper-bearing materials.

A modern superdreadnaught contains two million pounds of copper.

The Grand Central station in New York contains over 2,500,000 pounds of copper and the Equitable building has a total of nearly 2,000,000 pounds.

The ordinary street car contains about 2,500 pounds of copper. Into our American street railway systems has gone 675,000,000 pounds of the material.

The annual average consumption of copper for each man, woman and child in the United States is almost fifteen pounds.

The United States is the greatest copper-using country in the world. Almost one-half of the world's total production of copper is consumed in the United States.

The recent great increase in the use of copper and its alloys in this country may be attributed largely to the work of the Copper and Brass Research association.

Horoscope

Saturn in benefic aspect dominates this day, according to astrology Jupiter is adverse.

Under this planetary government workers will benefit much more than their employers.

Reorganization and change in various trade associations may be expected this year and various industries will be affected.

There is a good sign today for persons past middle-age. Senators and legislators of every sort should benefit.

While labor with the hands should be pushed under this direction of the stars, those at the head of big enterprises should defer important initiative.

This is not an auspicious rule under which to begin any new activity, for it may be delayed and even thwarted.

Leaders are to arise at this time when old heroes of industry are passing and among the workers will be one who is to become president of the United States, the seers prophesy.

Again there is promise of great wealth from new mines and from novel ventures in agriculture.

The malefic rule of the stars under which many crimes are committed against women and children is still strong in its sway, astrologers declare.

Foreign trade is to be disappointing to England, but it is to improve for the United States, it is prognosticated.

Sensational developments regarding theaters are indicated for there is to be a violent reaction against salacious dramas and severe censure is to fall upon the head of an old producer.

Mercury is in a place most beneficial to publishers and periodicals will have a successful year, the stars indicate.

Persons whose birthdate it is should exercise thrift and self denial in the coming year which thus can bec me most successful in a financial way.

Children born on this day may be careless in many matters, but able to earn large rewards for unusual talents. These subjects, of Aquarius are usually lovers of liberty.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Herbert Spencer preached the doctrine that to survive, every species must fulfill two conflicting requirements. During a certain period each member must receive benefits in proportion to its INCAPACITY. After that period, it must receive benefits in proportion to its CAPACITY.

"Obviously this law that the least worthy shall receive most aid, is essential as a law for the immature; the species would disappear in a generation did not parents conform to it."

Now mark what is, contrariwise, the law for the mature.

"Individuals gain benefits proportionate to their merits. The strong, swift, the keen-sighted, the sagacious, profit by their respective superiorities—catch prey or escape enemies as the case may be. The less capable thrive less. The least capable disappear by failure to get food or from inability to escape. And by this process is maintained that quality of the species which enables it to survive in the struggle for existence with other species.

"There is thus, during mature life, a reversal of the principle that ruled during immature life."

Here Spencer is but preaching the law of life—the survival of the fittest.

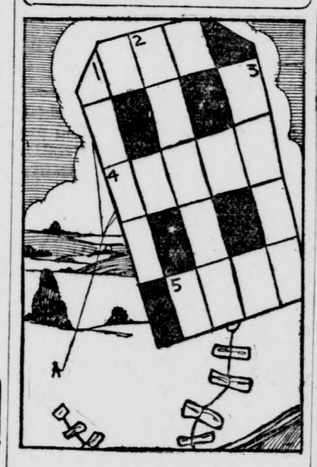
Medical authorities have raised the question of whether we are preparing our youth for "the survival of the fittest." They contend that we, as a race, knowingly, willingly and without any attempt on our part to prevent it, are allowing not the "survival of the fittest," but we are truly fostering a race of "hothouse" individuals, who as children need forcing in the "hotbeds" and who as young men and young women need the shaded sun and the shielded wind.

If this is true, then our coming men and women are a true paradox of our ideals and teachings.

Many generations cannot pass on without nature resenting such revolutionary action on our part. Scientists tell us that nature is already revolting. Nature's reply to our methods, they observe, is soft and brittle bones; slender, string-like muscles; weak, thin, glossy hair; waxy skin, lucid eyes, dull reactions to stimuli of any kind save those of irritability and "nervousness."

Quite a sad state of affairs to consider.

Puzzle



HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across)

Word 4. A hard object that bad boys sometimes throw at birds.
Word 5. To stand still.

(Running Down)

Word 1. How you greet your mother after you have been parted a long time.
Word 2. A beautiful fish, generally speckled, which is popular with anglers.
Word 3. Aid; assist.

Who's Who

As general secretary of the National child labor committee Owen R. Lovejoy, a native of Michigan, is playing an important part in the campaign now being waged to obtain ratification by states of the proposed constitutional amendment on child labor.

Ratification of thirty-six states is necessary. The amendment comes before thirty-eight state legislatures this year. California is the most recent state to ratify the proposed amendment and Lovejoy played a leading part in the efforts of the workers for the measure in that state.

Lovejoy was born in Michigan in 1866. He received his A. B. and LL.D. from Albion college, Michigan. From 1904-07 he was assistant secretary of the National Child Labor committee, and since that time he has been general secretary of the organization.

During all these years he has been its guiding spirit, and his work has been eternal investigation and legislation. His reports upon conditions under which children live and work have been powerful instruments in moving sluggish legislatures in behalf of the children.

By cutting oak trees into boards unedged and shipping in such a way that the original log form is maintained, Germany and Polish lumber dealers supply cabinet makers of Sweden with wood that permits the matching of the panels of each piece of furniture.

DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION LAY PLANS

Glendale Chapter Proposes New Building; Other Prospects Ahead

Daughters of the American Revolution of Glendale favor a plan for the erection of a patriotic building in Glendale, according to sentiment expressed yesterday afternoon at the meeting of General Richard Gridley chapter, at First Congregational church.

Representing the chapter Mrs. W. A. Sayler, patriotic chairman, will be a delegate to conferences of representatives of local patriotic organizations working on plans for such a building. Yesterday Mrs. Sayler reported one of the conferences, which considered the proposed building.

Miss Ida D. Myers, regent, presided. Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, program chairman, outlined plans for holding vesper services at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at First Congregational church, commemorating the birth of George Washington. Other plans call for a patriotic address, patriotic music and attendance of all patriotic organizations in Glendale, including members of the D. A. R. chapter in Colonial costumes.

Colonial Tea

A reciprocity Colonial tea will feature the meeting March 4. Invitations will be issued to state officers and to two delegates from each neighboring chapters. Mrs. E. M. Kennedy is the likely delegate from the local chapter to the state convention and Miss Ida D. Myers delegate to the Continental Congress in Washington. Miss Myers reported that she has called on all but two members of the chapter, and written many letters of greeting. Mrs. C. W. Houston, past regent, read the president-general's letter.

Because February is the birth-month of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, the program yesterday honored their memories. Mrs. Lura Jennings Burris, accompanied by Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, sang "Mount Vernon Bells." George Washington's prayer was read by Mrs. Sayler. Two papers were read, one by Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker on "The Personal Side of Washington" and Mrs. Helen S. Moir on "The Uncommon Common Man" dedicated to Lincoln.

Burglars' Ransacking Nets Clothing, Jewels

The home of L. W. Morrison, 1022 East Colorado boulevard, was burglarized last night and numerous household articles and pieces of jewelry taken. Police today are making a check of the articles reported missing.

Lincoln A. Ferris of 308 North Louise street, reported the theft of a 32x4 tire from his car last night, while it was parked in front of the Glendale Presbyterian church on East Harvard street.

Humane Society Plans Animal Shelter Work

Enlarging the animal shelter will be discussed tomorrow night at the meeting of Glendale Humane society at 8 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce offices on South Brand boulevard. President E. E. Kulp will preside.

Legion Trophy Returns After Varied Travel

"The Travels of a Trophy" might be the title of a scenario written around the awarding of the James A. Drain cup to Glendale post No. 127, American Legion, for the most impressive float in the Legion division of the Tournament of Roses parade on New Year's day.

After the judges had awarded the cup donated by the national commander to Glendale post, South Pasadena post entered a protest. E. E. McWain, adjutant of the local post, waited upon the tournament officials, and after considerable time secured the trophy and brought it to Glendale. Its travels within the city were shrouded with mystery, but on last Friday night it was formally presented to the post by Dave O'Leary, adjutant of the Pasadena post. Another trip took the trophy to Roberts & Echols drug store, where it was displayed, until Adjutant McWain escorted it on another trip to Feagan's jewelry store in Los Angeles to be properly engraved. Today the trophy made the trip back to Glendale, engraving and all, and its travels are at an end.

VALENTINE PARTY PLAN OF PLAYERS

And It Falls on Friday, the Thirteenth, at Playhouse After Show

Friday, the 13th, may sometimes be considered unlucky. But Friday, the 13th of this month, promises to be one of the happiest days of the year to a large section of the Glendale and Los Angeles public and to the Dobinson Players at the Playhouse theatre.

On the night of this day, which all the "sheiks" and "shebas" are looking forward to as the day on which their patron saint, St. Valentine, is annually honored, the Playhouse theatre management has arranged a special Valentine supper-dance, to start immediately after the performance of "Wedding Bells," Salisbury Field's comedy, which has made such a hit. The entire Dobinson company will be present, many of them in costume, and there will be a special jazz orchestra. The dance and supper will be held in the banquet room of the theatre.

Unusual interest is being manifested in the coming event because of the strong bond of affection between Glendale theatregoers and the members of this clever company of professionals. The importance attached to the presence of the Dobinson Players in the art and business life of this community is evidenced in the generous support pledged to the event by the majority of the industrial and social leaders of the city. The list of Glendale and Los Angeles residents who have already made reservations reads like the "Who's Who" of Southern California.

NEW SHOE STYLES

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The town pump does not mean what it once did. Just now when the town pump is spoken of, a short-vamped shoe is meant with black patent leather toe, beige or tan counter and heel and a black bow at the instep.

Saxophones of members of some orchestras are valued at more than $500.

COUNCIL ACTS IN SYCAMORE TAX CASE

Protests to Payments for Street Improvements Are Denied

The Glendale City Council this morning denied all protests against issuance of bonds for improvement of Sycamore Canyon road, and adopted a resolution authorizing issuance of the bonds.

This action does not in any way effect the suit now pending in the Los Angeles superior court brought by R. Belcher and other property owners of the district concerned, according to Ray L. Morrow, Glendale city attorney. Hearing on an order to show cause why an injunction pendente lite should not be issued the plaintiffs comes up Wednesday, February 11, in department 25, Mr. Morrow states. Yesterday Judge Hartley Shaw of this department, a Glendale resident, denied the plaintiffs a temporary restraining order.

With issuance of the bonds ordered this morning by the council, property owners may no longer pay their assessments in cash, Mr. Morrow points out, but will pay them with their taxes, in ten annual installments, plus interest.

Commercial District

The council denied application for a commercial district on Pacific avenue at Kenneth road, sustaining the recommendation of the City Planning commission. Hearing on issuance of bonds for improvement of El Rito avenue was continued one week.

All protests were denied at hearings on assessment for improvement of Western avenue and Grover avenue, and resolutions were adopted confirming the assessment rolls. Hearing on assessment for improvement of Belmont street was continued until March 5.

An ordinance was passed dedicating property west of San Fernando road, in the vicinity of the municipal pumping plant, to the city for street purposes. A contract was awarded to the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Co., for an automatic induction feeder-regulator, on recommendation of Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production. A ten-day permit was granted Jewett & Co. to maintain a mule camp on Canada boulevard at Verdugo road.

Industrial Street

Resolutions were adopted naming specifications No. 88 for high pressure pipe, announcing intention to improve industrial street, adopting plans and plats for improvement of this street; and resolutions were adopted confirming diagrams of assessment districts for improvement of Palmer avenue, Lomita avenue, Maple street, Adams street; and of Alameda avenue, Watson street, Mountain street; and of Los Feliz road and Glendale avenue.

YOUNGEST MOVIE MAKER IN CHARGE

Former Publicity Man Made Production Assistant to Jack Warner

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—When George Randolph Chester, creator of the "Get-Rich-Quick" Wallingford stories was alive and in the film business, he used to commute from Glendale to Hollywood each day to oversee progress in production at the Vitagraph studio.

Chester saw how the young people were getting along in the business and wrote a most amusing series for The Saturday Evening Post about a beardless youth who became a producer in few short years. Countless thousands of people laughed over the Horatio Alger character of screendom, realizing it was more or less fiction.

But Chester evidently had some very personal views of the matter and while it may be denied that one Universal City executive was the hero of the stories, Hal Wallis, publicity director of Warner Brothers studio here, now comes forth with the following:

"The youngest executive in the film business, the boy producer, Bennie Ziedman, still in his twenties, now is associate executive to Jack Warner in charge of production at Warner Brothers.

Publicity Start

"Ziedman started as publicity man for the old Lubin company in 1915 and left them to handle publicity for David Wark Griffith and the Triangle-Fine Arts combination.

"A short time later he went with Douglas Fairbanks and later became production manager for Mary Pickford. He became an inpendent producer and made ten pictures, then went to Universal as assistant general manager and supervisor of production. On January 10 he took up his duties with Warner Brothers."

However, there are others who have risen to fame in tender years. Creighton Hale was known in London as "the boy stage manager" after which he took a position as dramatic editor which led him to authorship and production.

And there's a moral in the two stories of success. While their writing as publicity men and critics might have been rotten, the written words brought forth their personality—and they attracted attention of the men who made them.

Girl's Income Tax Less Than Copper Penny

Marie O. Tulles, a young clerk in a cake shop, paid Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell an income tax of .007½ of a cent. In order to reach the Collector's office and file her return Miss Tulles spent 10 cents in street car fare, or more than ten times as much as the tax she paid Uncle Sam of her year's income.

Miss Tulles' income with various deductions and exemptions figured within seventy cents of being non-taxable. Deputy Collector Lovie, who assisted her in making out the return, tried to eliminate the 70 cents, thereby doing away with a lot of expensive bookkeeping, all on account of a tax of .007½ cents, but Miss Tulles would have none of it. She refused to take advantage of even one cent over her legal deductions.

"But how are you going to pay a tax of .007½ cents," Deputy Collector Lovie exclaimed. "There are no .007½ cent coins."

"Well, I'll be liberal with Uncle Sam," Miss Tulles said smilingly, as she planked down a bright new 1-cent piece.

"Sorry I can't give you back your change," Deputy Lovie rejoined.

STATE'S SPLIT FEAR TOLD ROTARIANS

Prof. H. J. Stonier of U. S. C. Speaks on 'Localism' At Club Luncheon

"Localism—and what it means to be a citizen of a city, county and state"—was the topic of a talk given the Glendale Rotary club this afternoon by Professor Harold J. Stonier, executive secretary of the University of Southern California at the weekly luncheon in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

California is out of gear politically and unless the constitution is obeyed by the Legislature in the matter of reapportionment, the great organizations working for the mutual benefit of the state will be split apart, the speaker declared in outlining population gains by Southern California.

Cites Instances

The Highway commission, two members from the north and one from the south; the highway committee of nine advocating increased taxes on motorists without returning to the south their proportion of the highways were among the several things cited by the speaker as reasons why people are being driven to a division of the state by the people of Northern California.

"Unless we get reapportionment politically we cannot have unity, for which we are all striving," was the conclusion drawn by the speaker.

The speaker also touched on the boy problem and scored the automobile and "slant on life" we have in Southern California, "the playground of America." Nobody is home any more!

Announce Meetings

C. C. Cooper introduced A. L. Baird, past president of the Kiwanis club, and Principal George U. Moyse of Glendale Union High school introduced O. E. McDowell, president of Glendale Teachers' club, who urged members to hear Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, who will speak before the Chamber of Commerce Forum dinner at the Broadway High school at 8 p. m. Dan Kelty, a director of the chamber, announced that the "Father and Son" banquet of the Y. M. C. A. at the First Presbyterian church, would be over by 8. Governor Friend W. Richardson will be the speaker at this meeting.

Rotarians, who have their names listed among The Glendale Evening News' councilmanic nominations, were fined by President J. Herbert Smith for getting free advertising. When Prof. Stonier spoke he said he had often wondered what Jesse James looked like. Now he believes he knows. Dr. Fay Stone introduced the speaker.

Warren Z. Newton introduced Jack Dietel, assistant scoutmaster of the Rotarians' Boy Scout troop.

Visiting Rotarians included Fred B. Ortman, Joe Hartley, Elliott Wyman, Harry Leland, and Carl J. Gordon, Los Angeles; B. C. Ladd, Kansas City, Mo.; Bill Brewer, St. Joseph, Mich.; A. J. Hayes and L. R. Tanner, Brainerd, Minn.; S. P. Gebhart, Pratt, Kan.; Homer T. Hayward, Salinas; Austin N. Kimmis, Detroit, Mich.; A. M. Bion, Fairbault, Minn., and Frank West, Pasadena.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The forward movement in stock prices today was broad enough to include all of the major groups of stocks, the oils, rails, equipments, shipping companies, coppers, motors, steel companies and specialties. Trading was unusually active in the first two hours after which the pace slowed up and profit taking was indulged in under cover of sharp advances elsewhere in the list. With industrial and railroad stocks breaking through into "new highs," the market had every appearance of resuming the advances which were inaugurated after election.

The railroad stocks wrested control of the markets from the oils, and prices of many of the most active rails.

Stocks of the western oil companies made the best showing in that section of the market. This was due to appreciation of the rise in prices of California crude oil announced this week. California Pete gained nearly 2 points in an unusually active market and sold up to a new high at 29 7-8; Pan-American B stock, which is reported to be under accumulation by Standard Oil interests, spurted two points to a new high at 76 1-2, General Petroleum gained nearly 3 points and Shell Union duplicated its best record.

The independent steel stocks came in for attention as the result of higher operating schedules for the steel plants. U. S. Steel was more active than in the last few sessions and advanced to around 128, the highest for the present movement.

The shipping stocks and the equipments were as impressive in their movements as on Tuesday when good gains were scored. Motor and high priced industrials retained their gains on a small volume of business. Irregularity in the grain markets was a handicap to traders who are inactive in the markets. Wheat dropped 50c a bushel in Chicago and Winnipeg, due to extensive realizing. Cotton markets were slightly irregular but dull; foreign exchange irregular with declines in sterling, French and Belgian francs and Italian lire. Call money three per cent.

Stock sales today 1,500,041; bonds $12,750,^^^.

of July for the perusal and inspection of the general public. This is the time to look up assessment, and if unsatisfactory, make complaint. The county supervisors are then sitting as a board of equalization.

Assessing Stocks

Third: The system of assessing stocks of goods seems to be lax, and we would recommend a more thorough checking up by the assessors so as to properly distribute this phase of the tax system.

Fourth: We find that mortgages on California property are not assessed to the mortgagee. This, we feel, is unjust, and recommend that such property be assessed, and a credit be allowed to the mortgagor.

In other words, if a property is worth $5000 and there is a mortgage for $2000 that the assessable basis of the $3000 equity be assessed against the owner of the property or mortgagor, and that the assessable basis of the $2000 mortgaged interest be assessed against the mortgagor.

In days gone past it was both advisable and good policy to not assess mortgages in order to encourage foreign money to come into California; but, now that there is money in large quantities to be had for this purpose, it is only right that we follow the custom of other states and assess this property.

This covers our findings on the tax situation up to date, and we hope to ascertain more information that will enable us to make further and more beneficial recommendations.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES W. PEARSON,
J. T. BRUSS,
JESSIE A. RUSSELL,
Committee.

separately on the ballots, so that it would have been possible to approve of some and reject others. The school boards have said, by their action to the voters, as arrogantly as though expressed in words: 'Here is our program, you must swallow it whole or not get a bite." This being the case, whose is the responsibility if the really necessary things fail to receive support from the voters? The writer has confined his specific criticism so far to the high school, but general criticism applies equally to the elementary school propositions, and he can see no more reason for the support of one than the other; both are overloaded with things unnecessary, and all are submitted in a blanket form that merits our reproof as to methods of school management. As to the elementary schools, there are unwritten histories of past transactions in real estate that might prove interesting.

AUTO DEALERS' ANNUAL SHOW TO BE BIG EVENT!

BUICK SALES STAND NEXT TO FORDS

Last Half of Last Year Found 83,000 Cars On Sold List

By E. T. STRONG
General Sales Manager Buick Motor Co.

It will be interesting to know that in spite of the talk of a general depression of business and especially in the sale of automobiles, that those companies that have become established over a period of years have not been affected to the extent that one might suppose. The facts of the case are that those companies that are the recognized leaders have enjoyed an increase in business during the past year as evidenced by the deliveries of Buick cars into the hands of owners during the year 1924, compared with deliveries during the two previous years. For instance:

From July 1, to December 31, 1922, there were over 60,000 new Buick automobiles delivered to owners. During the corresponding period of 1923 there were over 75,000 new Buick cars delivered to owners, and during the same period in 1924 the deliveries of new Buick automobiles to owners numbered over 83,000. These figures show a steady increase in Buick business each year, and accounts for the Buick Motor Co. continuing for the seventh consecutive year to be awarded first choice of space at the National Automobile shows held at New York and Chicago, and also shows a healthy growth of business which could not help but keep Buick in its envious position of the leader in the industry.

New York Gets 11,000

Deliveries of cars in the metropolitan district of New York have for a long time been used as an indication for the entire country and in this respect the figures for this district covering the year 1924 are extremely interesting. Buick deliveries from January 1 to December 31, for the year 1924, in the metropolitan district show the astounding total of over 11,000 new Buick automobiles, a figure far greater than any other make excepting Ford.

The deliveries of Buick cars in this same section for the month of December, 1324, were over 800, which was about twice the number of the next on the list, Buick deliveries for this month being only exceeded by Ford. Another indication of the standing of the Buick is in the fact that the unfilled orders for Buicks on the first of January this year was much greater than the corresponding period a year ago.

These facts may seem surprising, and they are, but when one considers the fact that Buick has been a popular car for more than twenty years and is recognized as a product that represents the latest advancement in body design and mechanical construction it will be readily realized that the number of Buicks sold and in use should be in excess of any other.

Another reason for Buick's steady and continuous growth is the increasing realization on the part of the buying public that it pays to buy a car of nation-wide reputation for value which has been of long standing.

Auto Club In Contact With Ancient Mark

Ancient dinosaur tracks made ten million years ago have been discovered on the Navajo Indian reservation in Arizona, the government recently announced. They are said to be the first of their kind to be found in Rocky Mountain territory, and are consequently proving of great interest to scientists.

These tracks are in a section recently charted by the Automobile Club of Southern California for the purpose of making maps. They were found about seven miles from Tuba City, reached from the Grand Canyon over the Navahopi road. Imbedded in a thin layer of rock, the footprints measured sixteen inch in length and thirteen inches in width. The ancient mastodon had a stride of fifty-three inches, measurements show.

After verification of the identity and measurements of the imprints by Dr. C. W. Gilmore of the Smithsonian institution, the department of the interior announced that the important finds will be protected against molestation.

COURTESY IS SAVIOUR OF AUTOISTS

Southern California Club Saves Motorists Big Sums by Warning

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were saved motorists of Southern California last year through courtesy, according to figures just made available from the reports of the public safety department of the Automobile club of Southern California. Just how much cash would have been paid in fines is difficult to estimate, but it seems certain that the total would have run into enormous figures since there were 47,717 motorists during 1924 who were warned of breaches of the motor vehicle law before arrest ensued for violation.

These thousands of drivers came under observance of the vigilance committee of the Automobile club of Southern California, which is a volunteer organization working for the specific purpose of eliminating accidents on the highways and bringing about more general observance of traffic regulations.

There are hundreds of members of this committee, all of whom are armed with cards for jotting down license numbers and a list of minor violations of traffic regulations, that may be readily checked. When a violator of the law is observed it is noted on this card, which is mailed to the public safety department of the automobile club.

Notification Letter

Within a very short time the violator of the law receives a most courteous letter from the automobile club calling attention to the hour, date, location and manner in which the motor vehicle law was violated. One paragraph of the notification letter reads:

"The public safety department of the Automobile club of Southern California is endeavoring to bring about a more general observance of traffic regulations and to eliminate accidents. We would like to count on your co-operation in our efforts. You

AUTOMOBILE MAKES BIG ADVANCEMENT

Remarkable Progress During Past Year Is Outlined; M. B. Towman Tells Of Growth of Glendale Office

By P. M. CONNELLY
Of The Evening News Staff.

When history for 1924 is written, the story of the greatest year of advancement in the motor car world will be told. A recent informal conference between automotive organizations discloses the fact that never before last year has the motorist had so much to be thankful for. In California, and particularly Southern California, the past twelve months have been most prosperous and advantageous ones for car owners.

Indicative of the advancement in automotive life of Glendale are the figures released today by M. B. Towman, representative of the Auto Club of Southern California in this district. Just a week ago the Auto club moved to its spacious new office quarters on South Brand boulevard near Lomita avenue. Here increased floor space and additional facilities for caring for the ever increasing volume of business handled through the club locally are provided.

Remarkable Growth

In commenting on the removal of the club headquarters to the new location and on the growth of the club and its membership, Mr. Towman said:

"I came to Glendale to take charge of the local office of the Auto club three years ago from the Imperial Valley office. At that time we had a force of four. There was one inside man and one inside woman, while one man and myself handled the business outside the office.

"Today we maintain a staff of thirteen regulars to care for the needs of Glendale and seventeen cities and towns up the valley. This staff is divided four men on the outside work, four women and two inside detail men, one adjuster and two special men on licenses.

Glendale Ranks High

This is marvelous growth. Today we rank along with the four other largest offices in Southern California. The only ones classing with Glendale are Pasadena, Hollywood, San Diego and Long Beach. Figures that have just been compiled show that our net gain in club memberships during 1924 amounted to 815. Insurance productions increased in approximately the same ratio. Right now we are busy caring for 1925 license applicants. We opened the doors of our new building Monday morning to take applications for license plates. By noon Monday 600 applications had been filed. Up until last night we had served more than 1500 motorists.

"Of the important developments last year that have made the way easier for motorists of Glendale and the southwest, the road improvement work made possible by the gasoline tax is outstanding. Improvements made necessary by the rapidly increasing number of motor vehicles included the reconstruction of many main arteries of travel, the elimination of bad curves, and building of new bridges. Last year was the first in which the gasoline tax became effective in maintaining and improving existing highways.

Highway Construction

"The records for the year will also show a sum of approximately $15,000,000 spent on highway construction work in the state, and additional millions in road improvement by counties. The year saw the elimination of the speed trap, development of better camping facilities for tourists, and closer co-operation between the two great motoring organizations of the state—the Automobile Club of Southern California and the California State Automobile association in the north. Wider variety of selection in the purchase of new cars, a better business practice in the used car market, and improvement in interstate and transcontinental routes were other developments working to the motorist's advantage and enjoyment.

"The Automobile Club of Southern California has been the mirror of progress in the advantages accruing to motorists. Its gain of over 10,000 members for 1924 brings the total membership to more than 105,000 leading automobilists in this section, which huge increase has led to new and valuable services to members inaugurated by the organization.

"The emergency road and tow car service, insuring members free towing or emergency repairs whenever they need them anywhere on the road, was the latest innovation of the year. The service was begun in October. The plan was made practicable through contract with more than 200 strategically located garages in Southern California, and through reciprocal arrangements with the California State Automobile association, the same help is given the distressed motorist member in central and northern California.

Covers Whole State

"This service replaces the former tow-car system operated from the club headquarters in Los Angeles for members only in Los Angeles county. The rapid increase in number of automobiles and wider towing area made the old tow-car arrangements inadequate. Under the new system the entire state is covered.

"The highway patrol service inaugurated last July is another forward step which renders aid not only to members but to visiting motorists who suffer troubles on the highways. To assist these motorists in the wide variety of mishaps that occur, a fleet of light trucks patrol more than 2,000 miles of the main-traveled arteries daily. Drivers of these patrol cars, besides being expert mechanicians, are experienced in first aid treatment, which knowledge frequently is of invaluable service for those injured in automobile accidents. These men also keep club headquarters informed as to road conditions, detours, new construction, condition of signposts, safety warnings and many other details affecting the motorist.

"Another outstanding achievement of 1924 was the charting and signposting of the nearly 9,000 miles of highway in Utah and Colorado. The fact that each year the number of transcontinental motorists who come here grows larger caused the auto club of Southern California to be the pioneer in this coast-to-coast marking of the highways.

"Los Angeles to Omaha, Kansas City and El Paso have been signposted along the main routes and the work is being extended so that all motorists California-

English Auto Tax Might Jar U. S. Motorist

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—What do California motorists think of this? In England, so Albert E. Jull, member of the New Zealand Highway Board tells Chairman Harvey M. Toy of the California commission, they tax automobiles about $5 per horsepower which brings the annual payment to the government on a Ford car up to something like $105. The result has been the building of machines with as low as seven horse power.

Jull, who has been inspecting California highways and those of other states on his way home from London, does not think much of the taxation scheme of his mother country and is going back to New Zealand to advocate a gasoline tax patterned after the California law to replace the present ad valorem duty on tires.

Jull recently visited Canada. The gasoline tax in Quebec has proved so popular that the neighboring province of Ontario is considering its adoption.

The visitor, who has been the guest of Chairman Toy for several days, declared California motor vehicle taxes about equal to a dog license in Great Britain.

OXFORD TONGUES

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—If the tongues of the new sport oxfords could speak they would say "comfort." The new models have fairly broad heels of medium height, round and rather stubby toes and a high arch. The tongues fall over the lacings and are elaborately fringed. Tan calf or white buck are approved materials.

PETTICOATS GONE

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Despite Francois Villon, "the snows of yesterday" are still upon many city streets, but the petticoat has entirely passed away. This former adjunct of women's wear has been replaced either by silk bloomers or by the costume slip of crepe silk with shadow proof hems.

Because she found glass in her mince pie, a London woman sued a restaurant keeper, but lost her case.

FINE PROGRAM IS BEING COMPLETED

Glendale Association To Stage Unusually Good Exhibition March 7 to 14; Many And Varied Features Outlined

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff.

Final plans for the first annual automobile show of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association, approved at the regular monthly meeting of that body held yesterday noon at the Oakmont Country club, reveal that the event will be on a scale to warrant the attention of motorists throughout Southern California.

President Lyman P. Clark presided over the meeting, at which contracts were signed and spaces allotted. The show will be held from March 7 to 14, inclusive, on North Brand boulevard, Lexington drive and Doran street.

Arrangements are under way to put the association on the air one night during the show, over one of the leading Los Angeles broadcasting stations, combining this with radio night at the show. This announcement was made by P. A. Kelley, chairman of the show committee, who told the members there will be a special program each night, with vaudeville and other features.

The Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association agreed to spare no expense in providing the highest class talent, if the plan to broadcast a program works out. Other special events scheduled to make the automobile show an event of outstanding interest include a musical night and a stunt night, Mr. Kelley stated.

For Glendale Dealers

The show is for Glendale merchants only, no outside exhibitors being allowed to participate, it was decided. The eighteen members of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association will each display the latest models of their cars and a number of local automobile accessory firms will also exhibit.

Three new members were taken into the association yesterday: D. R. Tompkins, Paige and Jewett; James B. Hough, Chevrolet, and C. H. Watson, Jordan and Velie.

The officers of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association are: Lyman P. Clark, president, Maxwell and Chrysler; Donald Packer, vice-president, Studebaker; M. B. Towman, manager of the Glendale branch, Automobile Club of Southern California, secretary; Tom Smith, Ford and Lincoln; C. H. Hunter, Oldsmobile and Columbia; William Tanner, Buick, and R. E. Corrigan, Dodge, directors; together with William Court, Cadillac; P. A. Kelley, Hudson and Essex; H. H. Murray, Willys-Knight and Overland; Charles McDaniel, Nash; E. V. Jellison, Gardner; W. H. Daniel, Packard and Grey; J. G. Caddell, Ford, and Bine J. Smith, Chandler and Cleveland.

Promises Great Show

Harry La Breque, with whom the dealers have entered into a contract to put on the show, is handling the entertainment features and promises a high grade affair from start to finish. The tent will be gaily decorated and a spirit of carnival will prevail during the eight days of the show.

The tent will be open every afternoon from 1 until 4:30 o'clock and every night from 6 until 10 o'clock. There will be special music and numerous novelty features, it is stated. Final rules and regulations governing the show are now being drawn up.

Associated with P. A. Kelley on the committee working out detailed arrangements for the show are Charles McDaniel and William Tanner.

'COLD' PAJAMAS

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Castles which have ghosts instead of steam heat are responsible for the fur-trimmed pajamas which are now being shown here. One example is carried out in yellow broche trimmed with fur. The legs are accordion pleated and tied tightly just below the knee with ribbons edged with the fur.

PLENTY OF PAPER USED BY CONCERN

Over 5,000,000 Sales Slips Filled Out In Year by Supply Company

In a recent advertisement, the Western Auto Supply Co. made the statement that during 1924, more than five million sales slips were used in their chain of stores. Evidently some statistics bug couldn't resist the temptation to figure it all out and the following information was received a few days later at the Western Auto Supply Co.:

"If all the sales slips used were placed end to end the result would be a strip of paper that would reach from San Diego to Seattle, with enough remaining to run down to Spokane. If the paper were rolled toward the east it would reach from Los Angeles to Kansas City and still have a hundred miles of the paper left over.

"About 75,000 pounds of paper was used in making the sales slips and if placed flat, one on top the other, they would make four stacks the size of the Woolworth building.

"Supposing one salesman could write the entire five million tickets; if he worked eight hours a day, six days a week, allowing one minute to each ticket, it would take thirty-three years and five months of continuous writing to finish the job. Over seventy gross of lead pencils would be consumed in the operation."

LOCAL TIRE FIRM TO AID MOTORIST

Adds Service Car to Answer Calls Day Or Night As Occasion Demands

A new feature which has just been installed by the Biltwell Tire Co., 914 South San Fernando road, is a service car which it is planning on operating for day and night service. It is the object of the company to give the motorist the best possible service and when he calls by phone to be able to reach him in the quickest possible time.

With the weather at night being so foggy recently, Mr. Saxon reports that business in Biltwell tires has felt a decided spurt. A car owner wants good rubber and a good tread on his tires when driving in fogs and many people who otherwise would not have thought it necessary to put on new casings have been in, he says.

HUPP BODY LINES FEATURE NEW CAR

Compactness of Eight Model Also Pointed to as Big Attraction

One of the most striking features of the Hupmobile eight is the extreme compactness of the motor, declares H. V. White, 228 South Brand boulevard, Glendale manager for H. W. Swanson, Glendale and Hollywood distributor of Hupmobile fours and eights. The hood on the eight is no longer than that on the average six-cylinder car, he declares.

Another attractive feature is the exceptionally well-proportioned body lines and low, graceful curves of the enclosed models, Mr. White asserts. Much of the tremendous popularity this car has enjoyed in the brief space of time it has been on the market is due to these features, he feels.

A special factory is devoted to turning out Hupmobile eights, and, according to Mr. White, the plant is already taxed to its capacity. The large shipment now on the way to Glendale promises to be exhausted in a short time, he declares.

A campaign for business has been started by the F. L. Chatfield Tire Service, 1415 South San Fernando road, in the La Crescenta valley and according to F. L. Chatfield it has been very successful to the present date.

This firm has the exclusive agency for the Samson automobile tire. It makes a specialty of handling the better used tires and offer very attractive prices on this line. Vulcanizing and retreading of all kinds is also a part of the business.

PACKARD CAR HAS BIG SALES RECORD

Glendale Dealer Disposes Of Twenty-two Since First of Year

Sale of twenty-two Packard cars thus far in 1925 is announced by W. H. Daniel, president of the Dixie Motor Co., 1129-31 South Brand boulevard. This phenomenal record he attributes in no small degree to the recent decided reduction in price, ranging from $640 to $840 per car, on closed models.

"Many people wonder how such unusual reductions can be made without to the slightest extent sacrificing a single detail of Packard superiority," says Mr. Daniel. "We have the cars in our showrooms and are in business to answer just such questions. The fact that we answer them to the buyer's complete satisfaction is attested by our sales record thus far this year.

"It is interesting to note that these decided price cuts are made in the midst of one of the most prosperous years the Packard Motor Car Co. has ever enjoyed. We invite the comparisons of the buying public."

DRAW FOR TIRES ON FEBRUARY 10

Large Crowd Is Expected at Ever-Ready Service Station Tuesday

Tuesday, February 10 is the day of the drawing for the four McClaren cord tires which the Ever Ready Service Station, Broadway and Central avenue is staging. With every dollar's purchase of gasoline, oils, greases or service, tickets are given to the purchasers and the stub is retained at the service station to be drawn out of a large can. The person who holds the lucky number will be the possessor of the tires and the right size will be given to fit his car.

The other drawing which H. J. Seeley, proprietor of the station, has held have been widely attended and it is expected that this one will be no exception. Although Central avenue is torn up with the new paving under way it will be only a day or two before the street will be reopened for traffic. Mr. Seeley states that many of his customers are coming to the station via Columbus avenue and turning east on Broadway.

CHEVROLET COACH ON DISPLAY HERE

Numerous Changes Made In New Model Gives More Stately Appearance

The new Chevrolet coach is now on display at the showrooms of the James V. Hough Co., Orange at Colorado, Glendale Chevrolet dealers. Like the other models in the new Chevrolet line, it is a radical departure from the conventional in small car construction.

The motor has enclosed overhead valves and rocker arms. The crank shaft is four pounds heavier. The flywheel is enclosed and the Remy starting motor is mounted directly in the flywheel housing, with all the moving parts enclosed.

Replacing the cone clutch of the former Chevrolet, the new model is equipped with a dry disc clutch. Other new features are the new transmission and universal joint, the new front axle, new semi-elliptic spring of chrome vanadium steel and rear springs are underslung. Both the brakes and steering control of the Chevrolet have been improved in the new models. All models have Duco finish as standard and the closed model bodies are built by Fisher.

PRICE OF COACH FITS POCKETBOOK

Oldsmobile Makes Closed Car Comfort Possible at Reasonable Cost

"What the great mass of the automobiling public wants in a car is comfort in all seasons, good looks, a flexible and powerful engine, economy of operation and moderate price, according to conclusions reached by executives of Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Mich., as a result of the enthusiastic, nation-wide reputation accorded the Oldsmobile coach introduced last September," says C. H. Hunter, 208 West Broadway, Oldsmobile distributor.

"One of the factors in the past that mitigated against the sale of closed cars in big volume was the substantial difference in price between closed and open cars of the same make. While it was, and is, possible to buy a closed car at a price to fit most any pocketbook, there were many persons who preferred to sacrifice closed car comfort to get a smoother, higher-powered, open car at the same price.

"Economies in manufacture made possible by the scientific design of the new Oldsmobile coach, however, has almost totally removed this condition by bringing the coach price down to within $100 or so of an equally good, open car. The price difference is so small that it rarely is proving a sales barrier."

can help by setting a good example to other drivers."

Replies to these letters sent to nearly 50,000 motorists last year, indicate clearly that the average motorist is fair minded and attempting to observe the law. The spirit in which the caution letter is sent apparently is fully appreciated as the majority of the replies thank the automobile club for calling attention to their minor infractions of the law and give assurance that they will watch carefully in the future.

Second Offense Rare

An astonishingly small number of drivers require a second warning. Out of more than 47,000 there were only 523 reports of second violations by the same car, or a percentage of 1.09. Only seventeen were reported for a third offense. The majority of the violations admittedly were due to carelessness or ignorance. Failure to signal on making a turn, cutting buttons, driving with tail light out, having license numbers obscured by bumpers, parking too close to a fire plug, lack of courtesy and speeding constitute the majority of the violations.

As all of these are punishable by fine, under the law, it is obvious that had not the nearly 50,000 motorists been warned in time through a courteous letter, they doubtless would have been haled into court and forced to leave a cash deposit for their negligence. Some of the motorists warned explained that they were ignorant of the fact that they were violating the law, and commended the club enthusiastically for its courteous calling attention to their oversight.

WHEAT PROFITS

TOPEKA, Feb. 5.—Farmers will profit little from $2 wheat, according to J. C. Mosier of the state board of agriculture. More than eighty-five per cent of the wheat raised in this section has already been sold. Up to the last week in November the average price of 153,644,000 bushels marketed was $1.07.

GLENDALE MOTOR DEALER PREDICTS

Maxwell, Chrysler Executive Sees In Fourth Year Great Prospects

Lyman P. Clark, president of the Glendale Motor Car Co., 124 West Colorado street, and president of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association, celebrated one of his birthdays this week. The anniversary fell on Sunday, so he held over the celebration until Monday, when he observed the completion of his third year in the automobile business in Glendale, and his friends in the industry here and in other Southern California cities have been sending him many congratulations and wishes for continued prosperity.

"They have been three good years," declared Mr. Clark, in reviewing the time that has elapsed since he opened up his Maxwell agency on South Brand boulevard on February 1, 1922. "The people of Glendale responded freely from the very day I opened and in six months I had to move into my present location, and that, too, has grown too small for the company's needs."

Optimism Expressed

Mr. Clark has built up the Maxwell sales to a figure never before known in the local field, and he admits that the Chrysler franchise that he secured when the car was first introduced to the motoring public has been a source of a large amount of good business for his company. "Coupled with the sensational success of the Chrysler," he said, "has been the equally sensational improvement in the Maxwell under the Chrysler engineers, and this car now ranks away out in the lead of the four-cylinder cars that are offered the motorist today."

Mr. Clark predicts that 1925, his fourth year in the motor business in Glendale, will surpass every previous year and that it will set a record away in advance of anything he has accomplished in the past. "I am going to give the people of Glendale better service this year than I have ever done," he promises, "and the fact that our service department is swamped with work all the time is proof that we are giving them good service now."

Remarkable Growth of Local Office Is Told

bound will find their trail blazed hundreds of miles ahead of their objective. Even the state of Lower California, Mexico, has been marked in English, which is another achievement of the year.

Community Development

"Besides these achievements, the club's influence was carried to various angles of community development. Its engineering department aided in the problems of adequate improved highways; its legal department advised from time to time in developing beneficial traffic regulations; its executive officers co-operated fully in all movements designed to advance Southern California and the state in efficiency and progress. The safety department co-operated with the board of education in conducting safety courses in the public schools of Southern California, the results of which are seen in the decreased fatalities among children through accidents.

"Organized in 1900 when the automobile was considered a curious plaything of the wealthy, the club grew from a social to a service organization when the auto began to be recognized as a utility available for the ranks of commerce, industry and agriculture.

"Scores of Southern California towns now are being served exclusively by motor vehicles; millions of persons ride on motor busses annually. The farms, ranches, harbors, towns, industrial sections, residence sections, and, in fact, almost every human development has come to be linked with the motor vehicle, which has reached its highest per capita population in the section served by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Officers and Directors

"The officers and directors, many of whom have served faithfully for years, who guided the destinies of the organization during 1924 are as follows: W. L. Valentine, president; H. W. Keller, first vice-president; Horace G. Miller, second vice-president; Standish L. Mitchell, secretary; Ralph Reynolds, assistant secretary; Sidney H. Ellis, jr., assistant secretary; C. E. McStay, field secretary; David R. Faries, counsel; Ivan Kelso, associate counsel; E. E. East, chief engineer; J. B. Lippincott, consulting engineer. The board of directors consists of: W. L. Valentine, H. W. Keller, Horace G. Miller, Fred L. Baker, A. C. Balch, Frank B. Flint, J. F. Sartori, Harry Chandler and Edward D. Lyman.

"The branch office of the auto club in Glendale has just become established in a new location at 413 South Brand boulevard. It is a splendid new home, from which will be given the same complete service that this branch has rendered in the past. It is a complete unit of the Automobile Club of Southern California, providing the identical elaborate service of the general headquarters of the club, under the direction of M. B. Towman. Maps are distributed, information given, tours planned, insurance written, and legal matters are handled for members in as complete a way as is done at headquarters. Other activities of this branch include checking of the highways and signposts in this section and co-operating with local and other authorities in highway matters.

FIVE HUPPS SOLD IN DAY, MARK SET

Local Dealer for Car Says New Record Made for This Territory

A new record in point of sales was established yesterday by the H. W. Swanson Co., 228 South Brand boulevard, Hupmobile dealers, when five new cars were sold. "This is the biggest day in the history of our Glendale branch since we opened here on July 18 last," said H. V. White, local manager for the company.

The new eight-cylinder models are beginning to arrive now and we will begin to make deliveries on this model before the weekend, he said. It was pointed out that the new Hupmobile factory was turning out these new models at the rate of fifty-five per day and that by May 1 the factory expects to increase the output to 100 cars per day.

Mr. White asserted that in his opinion the output of eight-cylinder cars would equal the present output of four-cylinder models within six months as the demand for the eights has always far exceeded the expectations of the company.

The new Club Sedan has also proved itself a very popular model and especially so since its price some few weeks ago. The new selling price for this car gives each purchaser the advantage of closed-car comfort at open-car prices.

Southeast Residents Discuss Flood Control

A meeting of Southeast Glendale residents with Percy J. Hayselden, chairman of the flood control committee of the Chamber of Commerce, last night terminated without coming to any definite conclusion on the flood control problems of the section. The session was called primarily to afford an opportunity for the flood control committee and the southeasterners to thrash out the water question and come to an agreement, so that forces of this city may present a solid front on flood control matters when the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county are broached within the next two weeks..

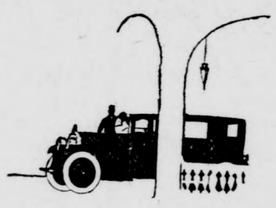
"After arguments on various matters had consumed several hours of time, the meeting adjourned without coming to agreement or attaining any other beneficial results," Mr. Hayselden said.

The meeting was held at the Glendale Avenue school, under the auspices of the Southeast Glendale Improvement association.

Military Funeral for Post Member Friday

A military funeral will be held tomorrow for William A. Wells, a member of Glendale post, No. 127, who died at Camp Kearney. Services will be held at the Holy Family church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, and Adjutant E. E. McWain has requested members of the post to attend. Members of the firing squad, color bearers and bugler are asked to assemble at the Legion headquarters, 610 East Broadway, at 8:30 o'clock.

ONLY PACKARD CAN BUILD A PACKARD



THE PACKARD EIGHT—

Of all the famous Packards, each the greatest car of its time, none won world-wide acceptance so quickly as the Packard Eight.

Go where you will among the great cities of the world, there will you find the Packard Eight—standing at attention in front of some smart club in Buenos Aires; gracing the grounds of some old English manor, or purring along the Champs Elysees like some great, contented, living thing.

And at Aix-les-Bains; at Vichy; at Tourquet; at Wiesbaden, and other famous watering places where car beauty contests have been the season's fad, proud owners of Packard Eights have entered their cars and been awarded first prizes in competition with the finest cars of all the world.

But best of all, at home the Packard Eight has been received so generously that month after month there has been an actual shortage of cars.

HI-Y BOYS ASSIST AUXILIARY DRIVE

Truckload of Salvage Got For Hospital Through Their Efforts

Due to the generous help of the Hi-Y boys' club the Glendale Auxiliary of the Children's hospital collected a truck-load of salvage. The boys also made a voluntary drive of their own and brought in forty-one glasses of home-made jelly for the hospital. They have taken this to the institution, with the amount donated by the differents chapters of P. E. O., making eighty-six glasses of the wholesome sweets ready for immediate use.

The Hi-Y boys, with their president, Robert Hatch, have engaged in benevolent work throughout the month, including a candy drive for the Strickland home for boys, and a second visit to the Strickland home, when they presented an evening program of songs, moving pictures and talks. They also took charge of a Sunday night service at the First M. E. church.

They have recently purchased a set of books and presented them to a former Y. M. C. A. boy, who is incapacitated through illness; and sent flowers to the sick mother of one of their members. The great success of the hospital drives was due to the aid of Alec McDougall, as chairman.

Leaders of the different classes in this club are W. G. Boyd, H. L. Butterfield, G. Edwin Murphy, Everett L. Anderson, Bert Rolfe. Director is Rex C. Kelley.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Feb. 5.—A council of the Knights of Columbus is being formed in the valley. Among its members are the leading business men of the town.

Stephen Myers, Glen Myers, T. Belanger, Edward Walsh, Thomas Hardin, J. Claiborne, J. O'Leary, and F. C. O'Leary are interested in the growth of the organization which now has sixty members. It is expected with the growth of the new organization there soon will be a Catholic church in the La Crescenta valley.

The post office building has been moved, the post office business being conducted for the present in the store building on Montrose avenue. Theo. Belanger, on whose property the building was, will erect a large stucco building which will, it is expected, take care of the yearly increase in the postal business for the next five years. The new building will be of the same type as the drug store and will conform to the general appearance of the Belanger block. Mrs. Frances Brown, postmistress, has had the frame post office moved to her vacant lot in the Oak Park district.

Stephen Myers is busy erecting a beautiful new home on Hermosa and Ramsdale, which will be occupied by Mrs. Myers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lang and daughter Warren who are to arrive from Chicago on the tenth of the month.

MICHIGAN BEETS

DETROIT, Feb. 5.—The Michigan Beet Sugar Co. expects to double its last year's output this season. Last year the company harvested 88,000 acres of beets yielding 625,000 tons of beets.

CHAPTER XXXIX

"I have already done more than I have any right to do in that matter," the commander pointed out. "I have had Mr. Grant Slattery's rooms searched. Besides, the steward saw him going down into his stateroom at a reasonable hour. I cannot see the slightest evidence against the young man."

"He has probably passed the casket on to some one," Prince von Diss declared. "We must insist upon having the staterooms and baggage of his friends searched."

"Including, I presume, the belongings of Lord Yeovil?" the commander asked with a patient smile.

"The casket must be found," Prince Lutrecht persisted.

"Gentlemen," the commander said, "I will discuss the matter with my officers and see whether any search in conjunction with the Customs examination can be effected. I tell you frankly that, so far as regards the personal belongings and official luggage of the Prime Minister of my country, I should not allow it to be touched. You must excuse me. We shall be taking up the pilot within half an hour."

"Captain," Prince Lutrecht announced in desperation, "I am prepared to give a reward of one million dollars for the recovery of that casket and its contents."

"There is no harm in announcing the fact," was the cold reply. "You must excuse me now. I have duties to attend to."

Nothing happened. No discovery was made. As the great steamer backed up to her place alongside the dock, she was boarded by a small army of detectives, members of the police force and journalists. The Customs House officials, miraculously worked into a state of intense excitement, made almost savage onslaughts upon the general baggage. There was a rumor—many people declared they had seen it in black and white—that a million dollars would be paid for a small casket of dull yellow metal which had been stolen on board the Sefalonia. A great many people thought a million dollars a very useful sum of money and did their best to earn it, the consequence being that the majority of the passengers from the Sefalonia were detained many hours before they got away. Grant Slattery, who was met by Hodson, with Lord Yeovil and Susan, were amongst the earliest to leave. They all drove together towards the hotel in Park Avenue at which the latter was staying the night before their departure for Washington. Halfway there, Hodson, who had been looking out of the little window behind, redirected the driver.

"We are being followed," he announced, "by at least two taxicabs. I have told him to drive to Police Headquarters. It is the only safe place for an hour or so. Sorry to detain you and your daughter, Lord Yeovil, but if we had gone on to the hotel there would only have been some shooting on the sidewalks. There'll be some trouble here, but we'll do it on the rush."

The only luggage they had with them were two official-looking black boxes on which the name of the Right Honorable the Earl of Yeovil was painted in white letters. These had not been subjected to search and were inside the car with them.

"Which one?" Hodson asked.

Grant touched the box nearest to him with his foot. Hodson picked it up.

"It is just three steps across the sidewalk," he said. "Even if they wing me I'll get there. Don't let the young lady move. We won't hang around many seconds. They'll probably try a rush."

Susan passed her arm through Grant's.

"You must stay and protect me," she insisted.

He patted her hand. The light of battle was in his eyes.

"It may take both of us to get that safely inside," he warned her.

They swung around the last corner. Hodson held the box under his arm. Grant, with his automatic in his right hand, crouched by his side. Before they had drawn up against the curb, Hodson had flung the door open and made his spring. A taxicab from behind came crashing into the back of their car, without, however, doing serious damage. Hodson, quick on his feet, was halfway across the sidewalk before the first shot was fired. He staggered for a moment and Grant, rushing past him like a footballer who takes a pass, snatched the box from under his arm, and, bending low, dashed past the astonished bystanders into the shelter of the building. Hodson stumbled after him. Policemen and detectives came running up, closing around them.

"Get those fellows in the taxicabs, if you can," Hodson cried, stooping down to feel his leg. "Green and his gang, by the looks of them. This way, Grant!"

They penetrated into the heart of the building, Hodson limping slightly from the effects of the bullet which had grazed his shin bone. They entered without ceremony an inner room. An astonished-looking secretary jumped up from the table and his Chief, recognizing Hodson, looked more astonished still.

THE GATEWAY

Colleen Moore has been the shining light of many screen successes in the past. She has headed casts composed of the foremost personages of the screen Hall of Fame. Her name has become a synonym for the modern girl—the "flapper."

But, with all her laurels, "So Big," First National's screen version of the Edna Ferber novel, is her first full-fledged starring picture.

Although she has been placed by public favor on the same lofty eminence as any of the older luminaries, her debut among the celestials was a decided thrill for the young Colleen. This feeling possessed her all through her arduous role in the filming of "So Big."

"Flaming Youth" was one of last year's pre-eminent film triumphs, but Colleen feels that "So Big" will surpass it in every way.

The characters of "So Big" are picturesque. The story centers around life in a Dutch farm settlement near the Chicago of the early 90s. Ben Lyon, John Bowers, Wallace Beery, Ford Sterling, Dot Farley, Jean Hersholt, Sam De Grasse and Gladys Brockwell are among the favorites in a notable supporting cast.

The picture will be shown at the Gateway theatre, Friday and Saturday. It was directed by Charles Brabin, under the personal supervision of Earl Hudson.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Wedding Bells" are tinkling nightly at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, where the Dobinson Players are presenting their clever comedy of that name, with charming Mary Worth in the stellar role. She plays the part of a young divorcee. The curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock.

Joseph McManus is seen as an undiplomatic bridegroom. The winsome bride-to-be is portrayed by Mary Isabelle Alpaugh. So cordial a reception is this clever comedy receiving that capacity houses are predicted for the balance of the week.

"Wedding Bells" is the first play offered by the Dobinson Players under the new six-day-a-week stock program. An added attraction to the presentation February 13 will be a valentine party, with supper and dance after the show. Many of Glendale's younger set have already made reservations for this gala event. A jazz orchestra is announced as a special feature.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S MOUTH ORGAN

Once upon a time when Uncle Wiggily was listening to his radio he heard some one broadcasting music on a mouth organ, or harmonica, from station XYZQM.

"That is very sweet and pretty," said Mr. Longears, as he beat time with his cute little tail. "I think I shall get one."

"One what?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"A mouth organ," answered the bunny. "I can easily learn to play it. I'll hop down to the sixteen and seventeen cent store and get one now."

So he did, and when he came home he sat down, twinkled his pink nose and blew into the mouth organ. Uncle Wiggily first tried to play "Home Sweet Home." But if you were to ask me about it I should have to say it sounded more like "Sour, Sour Home." For truth to tell, the bunny didn't play very well.

"But you can't expect good music the first time I try," said Uncle Wiggily to Nurse Jane, when he saw her holding her paws over her ears. "Give me time."

"I would much rather give you something to put you to sleep, so you couldn't make such doleful noises," said the muskrat lady to herself. Only she didn't dare say this to Uncle Wiggily, for she didn't want to hurt his feelings.

So the bunny went about the bungalow, blowing into his mouth organ as best he could, only the sounds which came forth were not very cheerful.

"Aren't you going out to look for an adventure?" asked Nurse Jane when noon came and the rabbit was still blowing away.

"I am not going out until I learn to play this mouth organ," said Mr. Longears determined like and inflexible. "However, I will stop for a time and eat lunch. After lunch I may play better."

"Let us hope so," sighed Nurse Jane. And when she had put Uncle Wiggily's lunch on the table, She looked in the pantry and saw where he had left his mouth organ on a shelf.

"I know what I'll do," said the muskrat lady. "I'll pour some molasses in his mouth organ. That will make much sweeter music come out, I should think."

So she picked up what she thought was the molasses jug, but, by mistake, it happened to be the vinegar jug. And she poured sour vinegar in the harmonica. Then she went back in the dining-room and made Uncle Wiggily's tea.

The bunny finished his lunch, and was getting up from the table to start playing his mouth organ again, when, as it happened, the Woozie Wolf saw the open pantry window of the bungalow, and crawled in, thinking to catch Uncle Wiggily.

The Wolf saw the mouth organ on the shelf, and said:

"Ah, I am very fond of music! I'll play a little tune before I nibble that rabbit's ear!"

The Wolf picked up the harmonica and began to blow. But, no sooner had he done so than a lot of sour vinegar ran in his mouth.

"Ah wowzie zinka!" howled the bad chap. "Oh, burr-r-r-r-r! Wiffle! What a funny taste!" Then his lips and tongue were all puckered up with the sour vinegar and he couldn't open his mouth wide enough to even nibble a clam's ear. And he felt so queer he had to jump out of the window.

Uncle Wiggily heard the noise and ran in the pantry, in time to see the Wolf leaping out. The mouth organ was on the floor, with vinegar spilled about. And when Nurse Jane saw this she knew she had made a mistake.

"I thought I was putting molasses on your mouth organ to make the music sweeter," she sadly said. Uncle Wiggily told her not to mind. So he washed the vinegar off and soon he learned to play very sweetly indeed, without any molasses. And if the automobile doesn't turn upside down and try to run with its wheels in the air, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's old clothes.

Colds Should Always Be Treated With Vapors

Vicks Is "A Vapor Lamp In Salve Form." No Dosing, You Just Rub It Over Throat And Chest.

It has long been recognized that the most effective way to treat colds is to apply the medication directly to the affected parts. This of course can only be done by means of vapors that can be inhaled.

Vicks provides the ideal method of securing medicated vapors. When rubbed over throat and chest the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine—are vaporized by the body heat and inhaled directly into the air passages and lungs.

At the same time, Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster, affording a double action which brings truly remarkable results.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

C.—The size of the glandular fissue of the bust is largely dependent upon heredity, just the same as the shape and size of the nose or any feature. However, the fatty tissue in the bust can be controlled by the same measures that control the general weight. As you are not overweight—I judge it is normal for you to have a large development—it is not advisable to do anything for it.

You are only 18 years old and you may grow taller; then your development will not be so conspicuous.

Are you getting a lot of outdoor exercise and are you having at least three glasses of milk a day, with lots of vegetables and fruits, whole grain cereals and other body building foods?

(If the development is abnormal your internal secretory glands may be upset. See your physician.)

Subconscious Help

"Dear Doctor: I tried four times to go on the liquid diet to shrink the stomach and 'fell down.' I was beginning to think I was a weak-willed individual, because I would say to myself: 'Oh, now I can't do this and I can't do that—what's the use?' Then it occurred to me that I would start to diet in a week's time, and that in the meantime I would do and eat what I wished. And it worked.

"By the time the week was over I was determined—I had laid my plans—thinking always, 'I will do this now, because, after Sunday, I cannot.' And I can say to you and the world HONESTLY that I have not transgressed since I started. It is a great satisfaction to know that one is not kidding oneself. Thank you very much, indeed.—H. R."

What happened in your case, H. R., was the powerful subconscious strengthening of your will power which you got by constantly affirming what you were going to do during the week.

I have used this same method myself, but in the week's time that I was eating everything I wanted, including candy (pernicious stuff), I probably gained four or five pounds, which wasn't so good.

Sometimes you can start yourself off immediately by saying, when you sit down to a good meal and don't want to cut down on the things you should, "It won't be any easier, tomorrow." Realize that it won't be any easier tomorrow, unless you begin today. Then it will be.

I wrote an article under that title some time ago and I ran it again recently because I have had hundreds of letters stating that it was helpful. I am glad you wrote. Your letter will be of help to others.

A Natural Function

S.—When the menstruation first begins there may be irregularities both in flow and in time. You must remember that the menstrual period is a natural function and not an illness, and you should, except for a slight indisposition, be free from pain or any special weakness. You should have some daily vigorous exercises, especially those directed to strengthening the trunk muscles, and these exercises should not be discontinued during your period. Most cases of painful menstruation in young women can be cured by proper exercises.

This advice corresponds with that given by the Medical Officers of the Schools Association.

Milk

P.—Yes, most certainly milk is good for adults. It is as near a perfect food as we have. It is high in protein of the best biological (life) value and it is high in calcium and vitamins. The diet milk is apt to be too low in these necessary factors.

SILVERY GRAY HAIR

Many requests reach me asking, for a way to make a partly gray hair snow white or to keep white hair from going yellow. If someone would invent a lotion for accomplishing these things he would make a fortune.

You can, however, keep white hair from getting yellow without much trouble if you shampoo properly. There are several ways. One is to use white castile soap, melted with enough hot water to make a thick syrup, and rinse about six times, or else hose thoroughly, so no soap stays on the hair at all. The last rinse must have blueing in it, just plain laundry blueing, enough to make the water about as you would have it for clothes. It won't hurt your hair. You can get it in an expensive form in some beauty shops, but I don't know what names it is put up under.

You can shampoo without soap. To do this mix alcohol and water (or get your duggist to mix them since you cannot buy grain alcohol) so you have a solution about one part alcohol and three parts water. Alcohol is cleansing and the solution is bleaching, this will keep your hair very white and soft and clean. Or, you can get witch hazel or some such lotion, dilute with water and use, and add the least bit of blueing as a bleach.

About hastening gray hair to whiteness, I wish I knew a way to do it but there is no way. If hair is oily, using drying lotions on it like those described above will help take out the already fading coloring matter. But if the hair is dry, oil must be used, or the scalp will have dandruff. One reader asked for a nice way to dress snow white hair. I know a charming Quaker lady of 80 who parts hers in the middle and pins a band of black velvet ribbon around her head, with the ends caught up in the knot in back. The contrast of black and white is beautiful, it shows up her beautifully white hair and her soft skin to perfection. She has worn her hair so for 60 years she told me.

P. A. L.: There is an operation for protruding ears which is not at all serious. It consists in cutting a tiny ligament behind the ear, then bandaging them against the head until the incision heals.

A woman can cover up protruding ears with her hair, but as a man can't it is advisable to have the disfigurement corrected if the ears are very prominent. Bandaging the ears so that they lie flat against the head during the sleeping hours will help before adult age. A daily full bath will relieve the pores of the complexion so they will have a chance to refine. An ice rub or very cold water should be used after bathing the face in warm water.

Overweight B.: Some of the foods to avoid are fat meats, potatoes, beans, macaroni, spaghetti, rich milk, cream, chocolate, and all sweets.

Eleanore.—A girl of 18, height five feet, two inches, should weigh about 110 pounds.

No doubt many women are planning to give a St. Valentine's party next Saturday evening (a week from this coming Saturday). In describing the following party I shall not include refreshments for they need vary little from those served at the average party—hot coffee or hot chocolate, sandwiches, ice cream, cake and candies. The table or buffet decorations will, of course, be red paper hearts, cupids, and other suitable suggestions of St. Valentine's day.

The informal invitations read:

300 Main Street
Anytown
February 7, 1925.

Dear Miss (or Mr.) Blank:

Can you come to a St. Valentine's party at my home a week from tonight (February 14) at 8 o'clock? Please bring two handmade valentines which bear original sentiments, one suitable for a lady and the other for a gentleman.

Cordially yours,
AMY SMITH.

When the guests arrive the hostess collects their valentines, mixes them up (keeping the ladies' and gentlemen's separate) and then distributes them when all are gathered in the living room. These chiefly-humorous valentines are then read aloud and exhibited. A prize is given for the originator of the cleverest one.

A Great Lovers' Contest is then started. Give everybody a slip of paper bearing the name of some famous or notorious man or woman whose name is connected with a lover or sweetheart. In five minutes each player must write the name of the missing "affinity" opposite the name written on the slip. For instance, if "Romeo" is on the slip, the contestant must write "Juliet" opposite. "If "Antony" is on the slip, everybody must write "Cleopatra," to have the correct answer. This game is more difficult if a few historic personalities are introduced. A prize should be given the person whose list is most correct.

Pinning Arrows on the Heart: This is the time-worn game which was originally the childish "Pinning Tails on the Donkey"—yet nobody ever tires of it. The hostess can make her own heart from red paper and the arrows from white paper.

The Card Game of "Hearts" should be included in this party. Though old it is, nevertheless, excellent fun.

Sentimental music should also form a part of the entertainment.

Tomorrow—Requested Recipes.

House Is Destroyed by Sparks From Fireplace

Fire caused when sparks from an open grate ignited a carpet in the living room destroyed the home of C. E. Downes in the Alta Canada hills at 10 o'clock last night. Volunteer fire fighters from the districts of Montrose, La Crescenta and La Canada fought the flames for nearly two hours in order to prevent their spreading to the hillside brush in the vicinity. The estimated damage was placed at $2,000.

The fire started while the Downes family was visiting at the home of neighbors. Mr. Downes said a wood fire was left burning in the grate. The house, a wing of what was to be a large permanent dwelling in the future, is virtually a total loss.

PAAVO NURMI TO RUN ON SATURDAY

Flying Finn Will Appear In 3000-Meter Race, His Manager Insists

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Advisers of Paavo Nurmi, world's greatest runner, said today that the great Finn would go through with his program of running 3,000 meters at the Wilco games on Saturday, regardless of Joie Ray's challenge to meet him at a mile.

"Nurmi has laid his plans to run the longer distance and cannot alter them at this late hour," Hugo Quist, his manager declared. "It is absurd for Ray to insinuate that Nurmi fears to meet him at the mile distance or that Paavo named his own distance with this idea in mind."

In a letter to the Wilco officials, made public today, Ray stated he was in favor of a special race at one mile, challenging Nurmi to do likewise.

Finnish Runner May Show In Paris Opera

PARIS, Feb. 5.—Paavo Nurmi will have a chance to show his wares in the Paris opera, Echo Des Sports announced today. The Finnish world champion runner, who last night established his seventeenth and eighteenth world records since arriving in America, has been invited to compete here in the spring. A 200-meter track will be constructed in the opera for his appearance, the newspaper stated.

FIFTY YEARS IN SPORT

Decade That Produced Great Fighters and Fights

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News

The ten-year period between 1890 and 1900, the last ten years of the old century, will always stand out as the greatest in the history of the ring game.

During those ten years great men by the score cut niches in the hall of fame with their gloved fists. Look over the list:

Bantamweight Class

George Dixon, one of the greatest featherweights of all time, defended the bantamweight title successfully before entering the feather division.

Featherweight Class

Dixon won and defended the featherweight title for eight years. Frank Erne and Billy Plimmer were two of the men he fought.

Terry McGovern was fighting his way to fame and the title—which he won in 1900.

Lightweight Class

Jack McAuliffe, greatest of the lightweights, was winding up his career. Kid Lavigne was ready to succeed him—and did, in 1893, when Jack retired undefeated.

Frank Erne, graduate from the featherweight class, succeeded Lavigne in 1899, beginning a short, brilliant career as champ.

Joe Gans, one of the greatest little negro battlers the game has known, was on his way to the top.

Welterweight Class

Kid McCoy won his first attention by knocking out Tommy Ryan and winning the title. Mysterious Billy Smith, who claimed the title when McCoy moved up, furnished the game with one of its most interesting characters.

Middleweight Class

George La Blanche, champion by virtue of his foul victory over Jack Dempsey, the Nonpareil, saw his claim to the title go glimmering when knocked out by Young Mitchell.

Dempsey, returned to the throne by popular opinion, fell before the body punches of Bob Fitzsimmons, then on his way to fame as a heavyweight champion. Tommy Ryan, claimant of Fitz's title, defended it against all comers.

Kid McCoy, though never recognized as champion, won fame by his cleverness, brutality and willingness to fight anyone, middleweight or heavyweight. He belongs in the latter class.

Heavyweight Class

Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Jeffries basked in the spotlight of fame and wrote the most thrilling and brilliant pages of the game.

Tom Sharkey, never a champion, nevertheless made his own odd paragraph.

The records of the activities in the heavyweight class alone in that decade make the rabid fight fans sigh with longing—longing for the days that were—or the ones that came before their time, if they are of the younger generation.

Sullivan, grand old man of the bare-knuckle days, and the giant who played the most important part in the evolution of the game at the beginning of the Modern Sport Era, had turned back Jack Kilrain, last of the challengers, in a seventy-five-round battle at Richburg, Miss., in 1889. The men had fought with bare knuckles. The punishment inflicted in that battle had spelled the final blow to bare-knuckle fights. Sullivan himself helped introduce the gloves.

On September 7, 1892, Sullivan risked his title under Marquis of Queensberry rules to James J. Corbett. They met at New Orleans. Corbett beat the sturdy old veteran down in twenty-one rounds.

Corbett had defeated Charlie Mitchell, Britisher, in three rounds, and had reigned supreme for five years, when Bob Fitzsimmons challenged him. They met March 17 at Carson City, Nev., and Corbett fell before Fitz's solar plexus blow in the fourteenth round.

Fitz reigned but two years—until he met Jeffries at Coney Island, N. Y., June 9, 1899. Jeff beat him down in eleven rounds.

On November 3, that same year, Jeffries gave Tom Sharkey his chance, at Coney Island, and the sailor fought it out with the big boilermaker for twenty-five rounds, Jeffries getting the decision.

Sharkey's showing may have been partly the reason for Fitzsimmons and Corbett believing that they could lick the champion.

These battles, however, were staged in 1902 and 1903, and so played no part in the ten-year period.

Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Jeffries. Those men form the Big Four of the fistic world. Their names have not been dimmed by the passing of time. To Sullivan goes the glory of being the greatest, but each man had one great attribute that entiled him to consideration. Jeffries had the brute strength and the wonderful physique that carried him to victory against all odds when he was at his best. Corbett had science. He is ranked as the first exponent of modern boxing science. Fitzsimmons had boxing skill and hitting power. He probably was the hardest body puncher the game has known. He lacked only the rugged physique of Jeffries.

These men, and the men of the lighter divisions, packed centuries of fighting into ten short years—centuries as measured by the modern commercialized game now offered us.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—There is talk that Paul Berlenbach and Tiger Flowers have not yet definitely agreed to meet next month. The fault is said to lie with Paul's manager, Hickey, who plans not to rush his man. He had his lesson when the former wrestler was pitchforked against Jack Delaney before he had acquired sufficient experience to meet the crafty and hard-hitting French Canadian.

As for Flowers, if he is not going stale himself then he has decided to stop being a fighter and to make an end man's specialty of his act.

Against Ted Moore in Newark the Tiger on Monday night slapped the Englishman good and plenty for two rounds just to let him know that it would not pay him to get gay and thereafter he tapped and pulled his punches throughout the remainder of the twelve rounds—or at least appeared to—while Moore hung his right on Flowers' jaw enough times to have knocked out a dozen cullud persons if there had been any amount of T. N. T. back of them.

In the twelfth round while the fans—not very many of them—who had come to the Newark armory expecting to see murder, whistled and laughed, the Tiger shadow boxed around his opponent and landed hardly a blow.

When the bell rang for the end of the fight he pulled a side-splitting fake knockout, doing a stage fall, and then bounding to his feet and throwing his arms about Ted's shoulders in a manner of brotherly affection.

It was a pleasant evening all around. Flowers in the second round opened up an old cut on Moore's face and throughout the battle his handlers could not stanch the flow. There was nothing serious about it and it did not seem to bother the Englishman to any extent.

Walker Miller, Flowers' manager, admitted that his man needs a rest and said he is going to get it. After which he will be lined up to meet Mickey Walker and Harry Greb. These battles are in the makings for outdoors.

Tommy Gibbons has signed to meet Jack Dempsey. This is the statement that came forth from Tex Rickard Monday night. Since Gibbons was already under contract with Rickard, why the excitement?

More interesting was the announcement that Kearns had definitely stated that Dempsey would meet Gibbons in the spring and Wills in the fall. The Gibbons fight, Rickard thinks, will be in the Yankee stadium in New York. Where the Dempsey-Wills battle will be held he did not say. But if it is held at all you can gamble it will take place in Jersey City.

Train Wins In Race With Stork In Utah

MILFORD, Utah, Feb. 5.—The stork and a Union Pacific passenger train raced for Milford with the latter winning, so the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edwards of Hollywood, Cal., entered the world with the aid of a local physician and was clothed with garments presented by Milford residents until his own clothing could be brought from the train. The parents had been with the concern which has been filming "Ben Hur" at Rome until called back by the turmoil in the Mussolini regime.

Five of every million passengers of the London bus lines complained of the service last year.

CALLS FIGHT DRAW

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 5.—Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia won from Buck Holly of Stockton in the Six-round main event here last night, but the referee called it a draw, getting the grand razz for his trouble.

The first round was even, the second was Holly's, the third even, the fourth a shade to Holly and the fifth and sixth went to Loughran. Holly gave away twelve pounds, Loughran weighing 174 to Holly's 161½ pounds.

LUMBER ACTIVE

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 5.—Negotiations now are under way for the leasing from the government of an eighty-eight-acre tract near the Tidewater terminal here to provide storage space for lumber shipments.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—If Paavo Nurmi succeeds in beating Joie Ray's two-mile record at the Wilco Athletic association games in Brooklyn next Saturday night, he will have wiped the name of the Chicago flier from the book of fame in all but one event, the 1000-yard run, the record for which Joie holds jointly with Hal Cutbill.

What sensation must be Joie's thus to see his honors falling from him as beauteous red and gold leaves fall from the maple when the first touch of frost comes. No wonder he feels a desire—probably temporary—to leave the track and take up coaching.

The day Nurmi arrived in this country, barely a month ago, Ray owned ten world's records on the indoor track. Now he is the possessor of but two, the two-mile crown and the record which he and Cutbill share.

Track experts believe that Nurmi will surely do the two miles in lower time than 9:08 2-5, the record which Ray made in 1923 at the Wilco games. Furthermore, they believe that the Finn will reduce the time to less than nine minutes.

Everything, of course, depends upon his condition. The cold, which militated against several of his attempts at records last week, may have been one of those colds that men even in the best of condition are liable to catch.

On the other hand, lowered vitality, due to unprecedented strain, may have rendered him easier prey than he might otherwise have been. In such event, it might be that Nurmi is ready to crack, and, if this should happen, Ray's two-mile record would be likely to stand against Paavo's assault.

Assuming he seizes all available records and then sails back to Finland, he will leave Ray still the American champion and very much in demand at indoor meets everywhere.

Should the Finn remain here, his popularity would be likely to endure so long as he continues to break records. For he has no color at all; he is an uninspiring machine. So far as colorful personality is concerned, he compares to Joie Ray as the drab garb of a Quaker compares to the uniform of an officer of the horse guards. And, so far as American crowds are concerned, a champion who has no color quickly loses his appeal.

Jess Willard, as champion heavyweight of the word, had no color, and never was really popular. Bill Larned, for sequential years tennis champion, had little color, and it was not until the flaming McLaughlin appeared upon the courts that the roar of the crowd was heard.

John Crum was just as fast a sprinter as Bernie Wefers, yet Wefers had the color and was much more widely heralded.

Alvin Krantzlein's jumping record was broken by Gourdin, yet Krantzlein is still a more vivid figure than the man who, after the passage of years, took Alvin's record away from him.

There were jockeys as good, if not better than Tod Sloan. But Sloan had the color. If Harry Wills possessed color, in addition to the bronze of his skin, the public long ago would have forced Dempsey into the ring with him.

As for Nurmi, he inspires admiration, respect and esteem, but he never thrills, and when you cheer him, it is like shouting into a barrel.

REPORT DEMPSEY GOING TO MEXICO

Champion and Picture Star May Wed at Tiajuana, Friends Insist

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—Friends of Dempsey, heavyweight champion, and Estelle Taylor, film actress and Dempsey's bride-to-be, were speculating today whether or not the champion and actress had gone to Tia Juana to be married.

The speculation started today, it was learned, when the pair, accompanied by Dempsey's mother, left for San Diego where reservations were made for them at the Coronado hotel.

Joe Dempsey, Jack's brother, denied reports of any contemplated marriage at the little Mexican town and said it was only a pleasure trip.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

The Standard Oils moved into the win column last night when they walloped the Christian church team 40 to 7 in a City league game at the Harvard High school gym. The victory gives the Standard Oils an equal standing with the Calla Lily crew, their percentage being .333, while the churchmen take the bottom step in cellar position with three defeats and no wins. The Legion is standing on the top step of the cellar stairs with two defeats and no victories.

Ketchum, left forward for the winners, was high point man, accounting for 22 markers. Isenhouer, center for the Oilers, came in for second place with 12 points. The churchmen did all their scoring in the first half, a free throw in the first quarter giving them their only point for that session, and three baskets in the second quarter winding up the scores. The Oilers were leading 23 to 7 at the half. The lineup:

STAND. OIL (40)		CHRIST. CH. (7)
Stott (6)	R.F.	Bowers (4)
Ketchum (22)	L.F.	Dennis
Isenhouer (12)	C.	Davis (1)
Schenck	R.G.	Heacock (2)
Berryman	L.G.	Helm

Substitutions: Churchmen — Shawborn and Wardell.

Sorce By Quarters

Standard Oil	6	8	9	17	—40
Christian Church	1	6	0	0	— 7

The Faculty Five went down to defeat last night at the hands of the Calla Lily squad in a practice game, the milkmen winning by reason of better teamwork. The score was 44 to 40. The Faculty came back strong in the final quarter in an effort to cut down a big lead but fell short. The milkmen were leading, 23 to 12 at the half. On the Faculty Five were Coaches Hayhurst, Pierce, Butterfield, Hicks and Wolfe, of the high school coaching staff. The score by quarters:

Calla Lily	6	17	11	10	—44
Faculty Five	6	6	11	17	—40

The final game for the third week's schedule will be played tonight when the Radios and M. E. church hook up at Harvard High school gym. This game should be one of the best of the season to date, as the churchmen, after dropping their opening game, came back and defeated the Standard Oils, 25 to 15, and a few nights later beat the Legion, 29 to 22.

The Radios have two victories to their credit, defeating the Christian church 55 to 10, and the Calla Lily crew, 29 to 27 in an extra period game. A victory for the churchmen tonight will give them undisputed right to second place with .750, while a defeat will force them down to .500. Should the Radios drop tonight's game they will fall from a tied first place to third, with a standing of .667.

On the sport page of The Glendale Evening News tomorrow will appear the standings, results for the first three weeks, and schedule for the fourth week. Each team in the league plays six games, the season ending February 19.

STUTZ TO PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 5.—George Washington Stutz, alias "Kid Monkey" Stutz, utility infielder and comedian, with the Hamilton club of the Michigan-Ontario league, and ex-big leaguer, has been signed to play infield utility for the Portland Beavers and entertain the fans on the coaching line, according to word received today from President Thomas L. Turner of the Portland club.

TWO NEW SHADES

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Four days in the laboratory has resulted in the production of two new shades which promise to be extremely popular. They are eclipse blue and cold flame and are reproductions of the weird and beautiful light effects diffused last Saturday at the moment of totality in the sun's eclipse. They are especially adapted for evening frocks.

As many as 100,000 barrels of apples have been stored at Southampton, England, at one time.

Opinions

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

It would be interesting as well as a universal blessing if psychologists would explain in plain mother-tongue English just what the cause is that sets in motion that peculiar reaction to disappointment often evinced in aspirants for motion picture fame. A girl in Hollywood deliberately pours acid over her legs because they were "too beautiful," and kept her face from gaining recognition before the camera. It would be interesting to know the psychological reason for actions similar to this one. There isn't any doubt but that that girl believed such action would solve her problem. Certainly no sane person would go to that extreme to gain publicity.

Joseph L. Kelley

All of which proves what a powerful magnet Hollywood and its motion picture studios are to feminine America. Girls have left luxurious homes in all parts of the country to hunt uncertain fame in the movies. They have sacrificed everything to see themselves flit over the screen.

This known magnetic quantity has been used to great financial benefit by scheming promoters. About two years ago a white-haired, genial promoter hit the town made famous by Henry Ford. This promoter organized the Detroit Motion Picture Corporation. It was a stock-selling proposition.

The fashionable Grosse Pointe section of Detroit was made the main objective of this genial promoter. Social Detroit "fell," and fell hard. Society backed Mr. Genial Promoter with wads of money. A studio was built virtually around the corner from the magnificent estate of the Dodges, makers of the Dodge automobile.

To prove that flappers are not the only ones who crave life in the movies, there were known instances where elderly Detroit society women took dancing lessons, so that they might have especial qualifications when the casting director sought material.

Of course—the project was short-lived. There was a lot of so-called scandal raised, the completed picture figured in several law suits and proved a dismal failure. But—Mr. Genial Promoter proved that a promise of a film career is just about as powerful a promotion idea as could be conceived.

The tragedy that is lived daily in Hollywood would serve as material for endless drama were it known. O. Henry, were he living today, probably would specialize on Hollywood instead of New York's east side in writing his material of real life.

In probably no place in America is there a like number of persons virtually living on hope as there is in Hollywood. And this hope is centered on the motion picture camera. Some realize that hope; others just keep hoping. Nothing seems to be potent enough to kill that hope.

And the strange part of it all is that among that army of "hopers" there is contained real ability—ability that stands a very good chance of forever having its light kept under a bushel.

Psycho-analysts will tell you that there are two great classes of people in terms of mentality—the extravert and the intravert. The extravert is the go-getter; the intravert the artist.

The artist recoils from even the thought of trying to convince someone he or she realizes and feels is inferior to himself or herself in intelligence; or, that he or she should be given a chance under the instruction of that person felt to be inferior.

That is the reason why there are so many more artists off the screen than on. And that is the reason why there always will be that unequal state so long as motion pictures are produced under the policy now in vogue. That is the reason the go-getter predominates. He's a good salesman.

The girl of the acid adventure won her point. Since her case hit the front pages of the dailies, producers and stars, also wishing to get their names in the papers, saw a chance here. They have offered her a "dramatic" job that will test the histrionic ability of other than those "too pretty" legs.

The go-getter, not the artist, will predominate, and girls will go on pouring acid on their beautiful legs and Hollywood will continue to be the goal and the tragedy in the lives of hopeful artists.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—There are only a few of the old boys left, but those who came to the opening celebration of the National league's golden jubilee certainly had a grand "old home week." Five men were present who played in the opening games of the league, back in 1876—George Washington Bradley of St. Louis, who pitched the first no-hit game of baseball; Jack Manning of Boston, Alonzo Knight of Philadelphia, Tom York of Hartford, and Tom Bond of Hartford and Boston.

Then there was Jim Mutrie, the old Giant, who does not go back quite so far, but who, nevertheless, played in the early days of the league. He and Bradley are old friends.

"Well, George, I used to hit you, remember it?" asked Mutrie. "Remember it?" retorted Bradley. "I should say I do, Jim. I used to strike you out."

They weren't telling their ages, these old chaps; but there was not one of them under 70 years old, and some of them were crowding 80, but they all seemed hale and hearty, although a little creaky in the joints. By comparison, such famous old players, also present, as Christy Mathewson, Arthur Devlin, Johnny Evers and Kitty Bransfield, who also have had their days and passed into the discard, seemed to be mere callow youths.

Hundreds came to the National league's opening party where only dozens were expected. It was fitting that it should be held within the ancient walls of the old Broadway Central hotel, where, on that day, exactly forty-nine years before, the National league came into being. It was mentioned as a regrettable fact that not one of the organizers was there to join in the celebration.

President Heydler told the club members who sat around him, and also the visitors, that the luncheon was only the forerunner of the good times they expected to have all summer, because the celebration is to be continued through the season. Each National league city is to have a celebration of some kind. Perhaps it will be on the opening day. Each city is to have its own little pennant, too. The pennant will be of the same color as that of the city, because in the old days of baseball all cities had their colors.

Probably every city will have a parade or some sort of a blowout similar to the parades they had in the old times whenever a visiting team would come to town for a series of games. It is probable that, on one day, at least, the players will dress at their hotels and ride out to the ball grounds as they did years ago. That trip between the ball grounds and the hotel was one of the most momentous occurrences while the ball season was on.

The Cincinnati club has two players on its hands who would make a great hit with minor league clubs, if the minor league clubs could get them, but the Reds think the players are too good for the bushes; yet they can find no major league club that will take them in a hurry. The trouble is that both of them are considered to be too slow by other major league managers, and that is why they were waived out of both leagues.

One of them is Fonseca, the only Portuguese playing baseball. He has been a hard hitter for the Reds ever since he began to play, but he is not very fast on his feet. Caveney has a great pair of hands, but he has a habit of making untimely errors.

The Reds are determined they will play Bressler at first base. He will have to go far to come up to Daubert.

Makes Fat People Slim

New York Physician Perfects Harmless Method of Reducing Weight

The loss of as much as a pound of excess fat a day with no harmful results is the record made by many patients of Dr. R. Newman, a licensed practicing physician of 286 Fifth Avenue, New York, who announces that he has perfected a treatment which has quickly rid fat people of excess weight. What is more remarkable is the Doctor's statement that he has successfully treated thousands of patients for fat reduction without change of diet or unnecessary exercise. It is also said that fat people who suffer from chronic rheumatism, gout, asthma and high blood pressure obtain great relief from the reduction of their superfluous flesh. Realizing that this sounds almost too good to be true, the Doctor has offered to send without charge to anyone who will write him, a free trial treatment to prove his claims, as well as his "Pay-when-reduced" plan. If you want to rid yourself of superfluous fat, write him today, addressing Dr. R. Newman, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York City, Dept. R-4. —Advertisement.

DYNAMITERS AND COVINA TO PLAY

Heavyweights Meet Colts on Outdoor Court Friday At Foothill City

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, Jr.
Written for The Evening News

The final lap of the Central league schedule will start tomorrow when Coach "Apollo" Pierce's Dynamite hardwood five meets the Covina basketballers at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow on the Covina outdoors court in a game which will decide second place in the standing and determine whether or not the Red and Black boys will have a shot at first place.

Undefeated Alhambra still leads the league with three wins and no losses and unless the Moors fall before South Pasadena or Citrus they have the pennant cinched. Nevertheless the Dynamiters have hopes for both Citrus and South Pasadena have strong aggregations which may be capable of handing a defeat to the leaders. Without doubt if Glendale had another crack at Alhambra they would make it a real game and have a good chance for coming out on top. Glendale and Alhambra met in the first game and the locals went down in a 29 to 10 defeat, wholly through the lack of experience, having practiced only a little over one week, while the Moors had just topped off a month of hard work on the floor.

The Dynamiters easily put down the Tigers who were rated as one of the best outfits in the league. The last game of the schedule comes next week when the locals play Citrus here.

Glendale Lineup

Francis Hardy and Reed Stearman will start for Glendale at forwards with "Huli" Jensen at center, and Porter Thompson and Cecil Zaun as guards. Carl Denney played his last game for Glendale last week against Monrovia. Denney graduated Friday and so is ineligible to play another prep game. The forwards which Pierce is starting certainly have the stuff and will make it hot for the Colts. Although Denney is rated as a little better guard than Porter Thompson, his loss will not hit the Dynamiters as hard as it might seem.

The Colts are not rated as a strong team, in fact, they have a reputation for being as bad as any in the league, having lost three games out of three. One thing in their favor will be the locals' inexperience of an outdoors dirt court. Nothwithstanding this fact the superiority of the locals ought to show itself ere the game is a quarter old and quickly vanish the Colts. While the Dynamiters are having a comparatively easy time with Covina, the Moors will be fighting it out with Citrus. Citrus has a strong five and ought to give the Moors a scare of their lives if it doesn't beat them.

The following is the lineup for Covina: Ansel and Huggins, forwards; Walsh, center; Kouns and Vanzuelt, guards.

Presents Appeal for Orland Area Relief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—An appeal to President Coolidge for federal action to meet a "grave emergency" in the Orland reclamation area in the upper Sacramento valley of California, has been presented at the White House by Senator Shortridge and Representative Free, Lea and Baker of California. Because of an extended drought, settlers in the Orland area for the first time since its conception are beginning to default in their payments, the president was informed. Specifically, the Californians want an additional dam constructed which will divert water now running to waste into the affected area.

CHICAGO WHEAT

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Grains broke sharply today and the close, especially in the wheat pit, was at the lowest figures since the recent sensational rise in grains. Wheat finished from 3 1-2 to 6 3-4 lower, the latter being the May crop. Corn was from 1-4 to 2 1-2 lower. Oats were down 1 to 1 5-8. Provisions were down on reflection of the drop in grains.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Feb. 5.—An effort is being made to change the name of Central avenue to Burbank boulevard, in view of the announced intent of the Los Angeles County Planning commission to have this highway made 100 feet wide clear to Girard.

It is felt that this step will relieve a large portion of the traffic over Cahuenga pass and in addition will enable travelers coming from the north to reach Lankershim, Burbank and Glendale without making the long detour around Ventura boulevard to Universal City.

A reorganization of troop 3, Boy Scouts, was effected at a meeting held Monday night in the John Muir gymnasium. Elmer C. Zeiss and Ray Farnsworth were there to aid in the work. Scout Executive Harvey R. Cheesman of Glendale was also present. It is planned to make this troop one of the most active in the Burbank district.

A. F. Byrd, who was hit by a Southern Pacific train at Burbank boulevard January 25, and has been at the Cottage hospital since that time, suffering with concussion of the brain, has been removed to his home in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bertz of Rialto spent the week-end at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Reich, of Grinnell drive.

Mr. Blechmann of 461 Tujunga avenue has appealed to the police to help him locate the thieves who are stealing his pigeons. Twenty of the birds have disappeared from his place and he declares he would like to save what is left for his own use.

Mrs. Mary Duclo of 236 Palm avenue is in Ocean Park with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Craig, where she has gone for the benefit of her health.

American cotton is growing in popularity in England, more than ever, and many substitute growths have failed to hold their own there.

Race With Death to Free Imprisoned Man

The shaft method, at the worst, will sacrifice only one man in the cave.

If Collins has lived this long, the rescuers argue, the chances are that he may live another forty-eight hours. Two surgeons are standing by to offer everything which medical skill can do to resuscitate the victim.

Actual work on the shaft was delayed until after noon for necessary equipment to arrive.

Soldiers In Charge

The iron hand of martial law clamped shut over Sand cave and its immediate vicinity this morning when Brigadier-General H. H. Denhardt, adjutant-general of Kentucky, arrived with staff officers and took charge of the situation.

Guardsmen were posted at strategic points along the cliffs overlooking the cave's entrance and scores of apparently idly curious who for days have roamed at will about the scene, hindering the rescue work and bringing chaos to a situation already tense from nerves strained almost to the snapping point, today met crisp, military challenges.

Admission was denied to all except workers and newspaper men, and what yesterday had been upwards of 100 at the cave entrance, today had dwindled to a scarce dozen.

navy aviator, who will fly the plane to Nome, leaving as soon as the serum is rushed out of Anchorage northward by special train, will have no compass or other instruments to aid him in his flight. He will be forced to follow the Yukon river.

Darling will make the trip of more than 600 miles in two days, stopping over night at Kaltag. Owing to the below-zero temperatures prevailing, he will fly in the early morning and late in the evening, when temperatures and light will be most favorable.

The former navy flyer, who will be accompanied by Ralph T. Mackie, former Canadian and American ace, will make a practice flight to Nenana tomorrow, finally tuning up for his trip to Nome.

Darling said today it had not been decided whether he would leave Saturday or Sunday but hoped to hop off Saturday.

Foresters to Be Host In Series of Socials

Glendale Foresters will be hosts tomorrow night at 9 o'clock in the Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway, at the first of a series of social affairs to be given each month for members and friends. Following a business session a program and dance will be features. There also will be tables arranged for cards. The program will be furnished by the professional department of the Emerson School of Self-Expression. Mrs. G. Edwin Murphy will recite "Maggie McCarthy Goes on a Diet." The sketch "Fast Friends" will be presented by Mrs. R. W. Cleghorn and Miss Besse Long. Gould H. Warren, chief ranger, and T. C. Harvey, district deputy, will meet women of the court at 7:30 o'clock to organize a drill team. There are now 112 members in the local court.

Teachers Addressed by Prominent Speakers

J. Harold Williams, Ph.D., research director, and Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, were speakers yesterday afternoon before a mass meeting of teachers of the city schools' administration, in the auditorium at Glendale avenue.

Mr. Williams gave a report of the result of work of the research committee in Glendale schools and stated that the children rank higher in grades for their ages than they do in many other cities in the state. Further research work will be done during the year under the direction of the University of California.

Mr. White spoke of the coming school bond election and emphasized the fact that if the bonds carried the schools would be prepared to carry on for the next five years without another bond issue.

Incinerator Plant to Locate In Glendale

Completion of a land deal which assures for Glendale the main plant of the Safety Concrete Incinerator Co., Inc., was announced today by Arthur Holgate, Burbank realty broker. The incinerator concern decided to locate its main plant here some months ago and has purchased a building site from Mr. Holgate on San Fernando road near the Burbank line. The consideration was said to approximate $20,000. The concern now operates factories at 1018 North Western avenue and 3329 Sunset boulevard, Los Angeles. Joseph Feigienbaum is president of the company. Concrete incinerators and other products made from cement are manufactured and sold in large quantities.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Someone tritely said little things start big wars.

For instance, the price of bread is causing unrest in Europe.

American speculators — and others—have forced the price of wheat to new high figures with the result that thousands of people are apt not to have the "staff of life."

And when bread prices jump upwards, everything else takes on stronger prices. Gasoline, with no relevance whatever to wheat, is going up two cents a gallon.

Milk already has been raised locally and eggs are still quite dear. But the wage earner who gambles that he can live on so much a week doesn't have any insurance in his paycheck, covering the necessities of life.

That's how little things start big wars.

Bread played an important part in the last war. According to reports in the archives of American military forces a music teacher from Wisconsin distributed thousands of fraudulent bread tickets in Austria with disastrous results to that country's morale. The hungry Austrians ate their bread—and didn't have it for their fighting men. And when troops are denied bread they do not fight so well. At least the Austrians didn't and their forces were shattered by the Italians.

There is going to be lots of wheat grown this year, you can wager. All of which means that the farmers who grow wheat will likely have it to burn. High prices one year mean low prices next, for poor people get used to corn meal and potato flour and other substitutes, when they cannot get wheat flour.

Yes, the price of bread is one of the small things which causes a lot of grief, if not war in reality.

W. B. Kirk, who wrote for readers of The Glendale Evening News while touring the world a year ago, dropped into the office last evening. He announced his plans for returning to Europe on a more extensive visit. Last time he saw too much in too little time. Next trip he is going to tarry where the scenery is best, he says. The Lakes of Killarney intrigue him. He would like to hear the Swiss yodelers, and see the Scotch do their highland flings.

And while Mr. Kirk was paying his respects to the editorial force of The Glendale Evening News a youth dropped in to learn about opportunities existing in the newspaper business. He has a college education, an ambition and a good appearance. All he needs now is the start.

But it seems shameful for a newspaper man to shove a young fellow into the muck and mire of reporting. It isn't pleasant to contemplate a person going through the experiences necessary to qualify as an experienced newspaper man.

And that's that.

Foreign Consuls' Visit Recorded for Movies

Moving pictures taken of foreign consuls who visited Glendale and Burbank yesterday in behalf of greater foreign trade relations, will be shown at Glendale theatres under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce within a week or ten days. Several reels of films, showing the consuls and their hosts inspecting the Moreland Motor truck plant at Burbank were taken. Other parts of the film show Secretaries Wood of Glendale and Charleville of Burbank extending the official welcome. After a run here the film will be incorporated into a great industrial picture now being produced by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and will be shown in many foreign lands as a part of the greater foreign trade campaign.

FREE TIRE-CHANGE SERVICE BY CLUB

National Auto Body Also Maintains Tow-Car, Map Service

A free tire-change service is among the features offered by the National Automobile club, states D. C. Bennett of 1707 South Brand boulevard, district manager, other features being a loose-leaf map system and a two-car service.

"The National Automobile club was the first club in the field," says Mr. Bennett, "and it aims to offer first quality service, twenty-four hours a day. Wherever there is a telephone, there is a tow and repair car at the command of a member, providing an emergency service backed by 400 official garages in California alone.

"This club is not in the insurance business, nor does it operate its own tow cars, believing in the policy of protection for legitimate business. Its official garages receive full retail rates for repair service. The club is a member of the Victory Highway association, an official information headquarters of the Lincoln highway, over which thousands of tourists are pouring into Southern California."

ATWATER RESIDENTS SEEK COOPERATION

Representative of Improvement Body Stresses Need of New Bridges At Meeting Held in Hollywood

The Atwater Park Community Improvement association officially became a member of the Consolidated Improvement associations of Los Angeles when the latter organization met in Hollywood. J. J. Wray, appointed by President Arthur M. Gilman, represented the Atwater Park association at the meeting.

A hearty welcome into the ranks of the consolidated associations was accorded by officers and representatives of the other organizations which make up the body. Mr. Wray responded with a short talk outlining the needs of the Atwater district and expressing his hope that the consolidation will see fit to co-operate with Atwater in securing new bridges, tunnels at school crossings and lower street car fares to downtown Los Angeles.

Mr. Wray particularly stressed the need for new bridges, and urged that other associations, although they are not as directly benefited, join the Atwater association in endorsing a bond issue for two bridges to be voted on at the May election.

Masons Meet Friday

Complete plans for organization of an Atwater Masonic lodge will be laid at the scheduled meeting of the Masons tomorrow night at the office of Arthur M. Gilman, on Glendale boulevard. With the sanction of district inspectors already obtained for the formation of the lodge, nothing now remains to hinder progress in getting organized.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Feb. 5.—Work is soon to start on construction of an $84,000 addition to the Central school, on a portion of the five additional lots recently purchased, according to C. W. Preston, principal. There will be eight rooms in the building, including a training department. There will be a basement. The building will be steam heated.

A twelve-room unit is being planned at the San Rafael school, and as soon as the location can be decided on, a new school will be built in the east end, present plans reveal, while a high school for Eagle Rock is in prospect.

By 1926 a playground costing $50,0000 will be in operation, school officials declare. Swimming pool, games and athletic features of all kinds will be provided.

The card party of the Women's Twentieth Century club will be held on Thursday evening, February 19 at 8:15 o'clock at the club house. Hostesses are Mrs. Walter Wemott and Mrs. Harry Bourne.

Miss Louanna McNary of Eagle Rock, who left here last fall, has been visiting relatives on the way to New York until January 17, when she sailed for India. She will arrive in March.

Mr. and Mrs. Stark and son, Willard, of 5115 Rockland avenue, moved February 1 to Arcadia, where they have rented a chicken ranch.

Word has been received that Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ball and daughter, Lorraine, are now settled in their new home at Elsinore.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Thomas of Sierra Villa avenue have moved to Santa Ana, where they will make their home. Mr. Thomas will conduct a business in that city.

SUNLAND NOTES

SUNLAND, Feb. 5.—A program of quotations from Henry W. Longfellow's writings and readings relating to his life featured the last meeting of the Monte Vista Woman's club. Mrs. M. E. Morgan read a paper on Longfellow's works and several other members read quotations from his pen. Mrs. Eakin reported on her attendance at the Reciprocity Day luncheon given by the Tujunga Woman's club. A parliamentary drill was given by Mrs. Godding and a program of entertainment followed, which included a Chinese character song given by Misses Edres Janetsky, Clarice Gregory and Grace Kinnebaugh in costume. The club will meet again February 10, when there will be an address by Mrs. Thayer.

Mrs. B. C. Eskey, matron of the Home for the Aged, entertained as Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. Gooding and son Myrle, of Los Angeles and Mrs. C. B. Green, Salt Lake City.

Proposed bonds for the Glendale Union High school to be voted on February 10 were approved at a recent meeting of the Valley Center Improvement league. The league went on record as favoring the purchase of a site and erection of suitable buildings for a high school in the Tujunga-Sunland district.

Incorporation of a city of the sixth class, which is now being sought for Sunland in petitions asking the county supervisors to call an election for voting on the issue, was discussed at the meeting.

Committees for the year were appointed as follows: ways and means, George B. Shaffer, chairman; highway and transportation, N. C. Barry, chairman; electric lighting, G. L. Nottage, chairman; state, county and community improvement, Rudolph Henry, chairman; social and entertaintric lighting; G. L. Nottage, chairman; fire, A. D. Kirschman.

George Shaffer addressed the meeting on incorporation and Rudolph Henry spoke of highway improvement. G. L. Nottage reported the completion of a number of street signs and N. C. Barry spoke of the proposed scenic drive along the crest of the Verdugos from Glendale to Sunland. G. L. Nottage and M. E. Morgan were appointed a committee to represent the league at meetings of the Service club.

Following a custom of the league, a social hour was spent after the meeting in observing the birthday anniversaries of members George B. Shaffer, A. Faure, M. E. Morgan. Refreshments were served at tables decorated with choice blossoms from the gardens of the Shaffer home, where the meeting was held.

The Valley Center Improvement league has just entered upon the third year of its existence and the members feel that their efforts in the community have secured many improvements which would not otherwise have been made as soon.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Sunland Baptist church will meet in the basement of the church on Thursday, February 12. Refreshments will be served. A bazaar and entertainment is being planned by the society for the near future. A bed comfort made by the ladies of the society is to be sold to procure funds.
